DOLLY IS NOT YET IN THE TOILS

TOMORROW WILL GO TO IRVINGTON PARK

Insists That French Dry Cleaning House Show Her What is Done to Her Gown and She is Enthusiastic.

IS AT WOLF & DESSAUER STORE TODAY

PUBLIC APPOINTMENTS FOR DOLLY DIMPLES TODAY AND TOMORROW.

The mysterious Miss Dolly Dimples has thoroughly demonstrated since she has been in Fort Wayne that she is capable of evading capture in any sort of gathering.

All Fort Wayne must doff their hats to the elusive one; she has not only fulfilled all promises but has gone a bit further—she has called upon some of Fort Wayne's most influential citizens without being suspected of being the mysterious Dolly Dimples.

This afternoon between 2:30 and 5:30 Dolly will again test her ability of evading capture by entering Wolf & Dessauer's Dry Goods store. She will even make a purchase.

Should Dolly Dimples be able to evade detection this afternoon which hardly seems possible, then from tomorrow on The Sentinel proposes to set a fast and furious pace for the mysterious one by advertising very difficult appointments for her to fill and which should end this chase at an early hour. If still free tomorrow, Saturday, Dolly will visit Irvington Park between the hours of 2 and 5. There will be no street appointment this evening. Dolly's only appointment today will be at Wolf & Dessauer's store.

Read the rules and conditions on local page; memorize the following salutation which will be changed from day to day:

"PARDON ME, YOU ARE THE MYSTERIOUS MISS DOLLY DIMPLES OF THE SENTINEL, THE PAPER THAT GOES INTO THE HOMES."

If the salutation is correctly spoken, and the woman you address is Dolly Dimples, she will admit her identity at once, and the $100.00 in gold is yours.

Dolly Dimples will remain here until some one captures her.

By DOLLY DIMPLES.

By this time tomorrow I do not expect to be at liberty; actually I doubt my ability to survive the test to which my powers of eluding capture will be put when I visit Wolf & Dessauer's this afternoon between 2:30 and 5:30.

All day today my mind has been busy with studying out a fitting disguise to assume for that occasion. Disguises for my engagement in the bright part of the daytime are never an easy matter and require much preparation. A make-up which will deceive thousands in the pitiless light of day must be good, and demands exceptional care.

When I enter four walls in a dense crowd, participants will have an opportunity for leisure scrutiny, and really, I shiver and feel dismayed.

Remember, that I will positively not recognize any persons blockading the entrances to the big department store, and attempting to salute all ladies entering or leaving the store. I concede that this would be unfair to those inside as well as to those outside who are unable to effect an entrance. I will positively make a purchase of some kind.

Have you, too, your little "hobbies" and do your friends overlook your little faults and your so-called idiosyncrasies because you are "you"?

That is the beautiful part of friendship; to know and tolerate each other's shortcomings. Wouldn't it be nice if everyone in the world were friends?

There is one great lesson we must all learn—forbearance. The sooner we acquire the priceless quality of patience the better for us. Everybody in God's beautiful big world has, no matter how lovely his character, what appears to some as a particular fault or shortcoming. And isn't it easy, indeed, to discover a fault in others, but isn't it easier still to remain blind to our own?

AS DOLLY LOOKS.

Pointers that will help to identify Dolly Dimples will be given in this box from day to day:

Dolly Dimples' hair is light brown

Dolly Dimples' complexion is medium dark

Dolly Dimples' teeth are very white and even.

Dolly Dimples wears a 5½ glove.

FIRST LOCAL RECORDS MADE

Fort Wayne Station of the Weather Bureau Beginning Operations.

IMPORTANT DATA NOW AVAILABLE

Work of Daily Forecasts Will Follow in Very Short Time.

Forecaster Walter S. Palmer, in charge of the Fort Wayne station of the United States weather bureau, made on Thursday afternoon the first local records to be taken by the new station, and while the station is not yet completely in operation, much data is now available and will be supplied to those who ask for it. The weather bureau's telephone is No. 2402.

There one may now ascertain the rainfall record, both as to quantity and rate of fall, the temperature, the barometric pressure, the sunshine record, wind velocity and wind direction. The work of daily forecasting for this territory cannot be taken up until telegraphic service is established with other weather bureau stations. This will be a matter of but a very short time, and the twice-daily forecasts will then be issued from the Fort Wayne office.

Some Samples of It.

Instruments at the station show that the highest point reached by the temperature between noon Thursday and noon today was 89 degrees at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon, while the minimum was 68 degrees at 5 o'clock this morning.

The little flurry of rainfall Thursday afternoon amounted to but .200 inch, and the wind velocity during the morning hours today was approximately 20 miles an hour. Within a few days instruments showing humidity will be installed.

Much progress was made yesterday in connecting up the delicate meterological instruments which had just reached the city, and the station on the ninth floor of the Shoaff building begins to take on the appearance of a busy place. The instruments already in place include the thermometers and the thermograph in the instrument shelter upon the roof, which give the record of temperature for any moment of day or night.

Other Data Recorded.

The wind record instruments are complete—the vane which indicates direction and is recorded electrically in the office below, and the anemometer which gives a complete record of wind velocity hour by hour, traced like the other records upon tape in the office by delicate machinery operated by clockwork. There is the sunshine recorder that supplies data as to the performance of the sun, and the rainfall records. These four are all recorded upon the station meteorgraph or quadruple register, so that the observer has before him a complete record without climbing to the roof of the building to consult the instruments.

The barometric pressure is likewise recorded upon the barograph, while mercurial barometers determine the pressure to the fraction of a thousandth part of an inch.

Figured for Elevation.

Before the barometric instruments could give information that is absolutely accurate it was necessary to ascertain the precise elevation of the station. This was computed by City Engineer F. M. Randall and is announced as 855.46 feet above the mean sea level. To arrive at this figure Mr. Randall made his computation by taking as a base the southeast corner of the doorsill of the woman's waiting room at the Pennsylvania station in this city, which had been previously computed by expert engineers of the railroad company and ascertained to be 781.487 feet above sea level.

INQUIRY FOR INDIAN OFFICE.

House Committee Will Investigate Charges of Fraud and Graft.

Washington, May 19.—The interior department, over which Secretary Walter L. Fisher presides, is to be investigated by the house committee on expenditures in the interior department, of which Representative Graham of Illinois is chairman. The inquiry is to start Monday next, and will delve into the affairs of the Indian office. Half a dozen or more officials of that bureau have been subpoenaed to appear to answer questions which are expected by members of the committee to develop great extravagance in administering the affairs of the wards of the nation. Charges that private parties have been profiting unlawfully out of contracts with the Indians will also be investigated and attention given to alleged land frauds.

REGULATION LAW DOES NOT APPLY

Bartender at Snug Saloon Sold to Minors and in Back Room.

FRED BOHNKE FINED

So long as the holder of a saloon license, the partner in a firm holding one or the agent of a licensed corporation does not violate any of the provisions of the Proctor regulation law, there is no danger of losing the right to sell intoxicating liquor. He can leave all of it to his barkeeper.

In the city court today Fred Bohnke, a bartender at the Snug saloon, on West Main street, the license for which is held in the name of Marion Wyatt, who is in Texas, sold liquor in the back room of the place to two boys and two women.

The boys are both under legal age and the liquor was sold in violation of the blind tiger act. The women are both married and one of them is forty-five years old—old enough to know better. They picked the boys up on the street by flirting with them and induced them to buy drinks. Patrolman Paul captured the party and caused the affidavits to be filed.

Bohnke said he was awful busy yesterday and that he could not recall having seen the people in the place, but the boys identified him positively as the man who sold them liquor and he was fined $50 and costs in each case and it all amounted to $120. The women were not called into court because one of them is the mother of a family and neither is on record.

Under the regulation law if a licensee had been guilty of two offenses his license might have been suspended, but the bartender has free reign in the matter unless it can be proven that he has been ordered to violate the law.

Sentence is Suspended.

Louis Arens entered a plea of guilty to the charge of robbing Mrs. Henry Finney and was fined $5 and costs and given a suspended jail sentence of sixty days. He helped to take the woman home after she had been injured in a collision and rifled her hand bag.

FEAR PLOT TO SLAY MADERO

Provisional Ruler Halts Plans for Trip to Mexico City.

RUMORS GIVE RISE TO FEAR AT JUAREZ

President Diaz, Improved, Awaits Coming of His Successor.

Juarez, Mexico, May 19.—Plans for the departure to Mexico City within a few days of provisional President Francisco I. Madero, received a setback this morning when a member of the El Paso revolutionary junta received a telegram from the capital stating that persistent rumors were in circulation there of the existence of a plot to attempt the life of Madero upon his arrival.

Beyond this bare statement the message gave no details, but the matter was considered serious enough to result in a hurried consultation of insurrecto leaders as to the advisability of postponing the trip of Madero until such time as the report was disproved or affairs in the capital were in a more settled condition.

Madero and his advisers awaited today an answer from Mexico City as to the immediate naming of the four provisional governors, the remainder to be nominated later. Until the reply is received, the progress of peace negotiations is practically at a standstill. No doubt is expressed, however, that the answer will be favorable.

Every officer on the staff of the provisional president, it was announced today, had donated six months' salary as a fund for the widows and children of insurrecto soldiers killed during the revolution.

PRESIDENT DIAZ BETTER.

Mexico City, May 19.—The condition of President Diaz continued today satisfactory to his physicians, who said that it was likely that the executive would leave his room during the day. He is said to be in good spirits and, except for trouble caused by an ulcerated tooth, in excellent health. This morning he received callers in his chamber at the palace and transacted official business.

The news that Francisco I. Madero, jr., the leader of the rebellion, is to come soon to the capital, was received with great interest here.

When it was communicated late last night to Foreign Minister De La Barra he appeared surprised, but said he would facilitate Madero's arrival by any further agreements that might be necessary pending the visit. The coming of Madero is accepted here as meaning that the armistice will be continued as a permanent peace pact basis, the terms of which will be announced by the government officials in this city.

Advices from Patucha today state that Delgado Medrano, who was proven by investigation to have been the leader of the mob that pillaged the town, was shot in the plaza last night.

The Knights and Ladies of Honor will hold a social at Dehm's hall Saturday evening.

HAS OPENED FIRE ON LUMBER TRUST

Attorney General Wickersham Files Sensational Suit Charging Gigantic Conspiracy In Restraint of Trade.

FOLLOWS LINES OF OIL CASE RULING

New York, May 19.—Sweeping charges of a gigantic conspiracy to maintain high prices, to blacklist concerns not regarded as "proper" trade and to violate generally the Sherman anti-trust law, are made in a government suit filed by Attorney General Wickersham in the United States court here today against the so-called lumber trust.

Ten trade organizations and more than 150 individuals are named as defendants in this suit, which may be the first of several planned by the department of justice against combinations of retailers in staple commodities and the necessaries of life to prevent the ultimate consumer from buying anywhere, except from local retailers.

Replete With Sensation.

The government's suit is replete with sensational allegations, and it is asserted that builders and consumers of lumber the country over are at the mercy of the retailers' organizations in different sections of the United States.

The suit filed today is against the Eastern States Retail Lumber Dealers' association, which is the central body of nine local organizations covering five states, the district of Columbia and the cities of Baltimore and Philadelphia.

Attorney General Wickersham and his special assistant, Clark McKeecher, have devoted more than a year to gathering the evidence on which today's suit is based. This evidence includes copies of the alleged agreements, blacklists and reports of the various organizations, branding wholesalers and retailers who have dared to violate the rules of the association as "poachers," "mavericks," "scalpers" and "illegitimate dealers" to whom "short shrift must be applied."

Follows Lines of Oil Case.

This is the first government anti-trust suit conforming to the supreme court's Standard Oil decision, in that it alleges "undue" and "unreasonable" restraint of the trade of the consumer and the manufacturer. It is the evident purpose of the plea to confine the charge largely to that feature, small stress being placed upon the restraint of the trade among the conspirators themselves.

Charges Are Specific.

The government charges in brief that, by an elaborate system of blacklisting, not only individual consumers but some of the largest industrial corporations have been prevented from dealing directly with wholesalers. By alleged unlawful agreements and acts it is charged that all competition for the trade of the contractor, the builders, the manufacturer of finished lumber products, and the individual consumer has been thrown entirely into the hands of the retailers in the Eastern tates Retail Lumber Dealers' association and its constituent organizations. The government's bill alleges that in some localities the wholesaler selling to a consumer has either been heavily fined or expelled from the organization. Officials of the department of justice regard the suit as the most important in principle of any yet undertaken by the government against alleged conspiracies said to affect the cost of living. It is believed that should the courts uphold the government's contention that it is a violation of the Sherman anit-trust law to prevent the ultimate consumer from buying direct from the producer others suits will be started against combinations of retailers alleged to be in control of the marketing of many of the commodities of life.

List of Defendants.

The defendants named in the suit and who are alleged to have conspired among themselves and with the assistance of the National Wholesale Lumber Dealers selling directly or indirectly to consumers are:

The Eastern States Retail Lumber Dealers' association, a New York corporation, with offices at No. 18 Broadway.

The New York Lumber Trade association, of New York city.

The Building Material Men's association, of Weschester county, N. Y.

The Lumber Dealers' Association of Connecticut.

The Massachusetts Retail Lumber Dealers' association.

The Lumber Dealers' Association of Rhode Island.

The Retail Lumber Men's association, of Baltimore.

The officers and directors, trustees and members of the above are named as individual defendants as well as the officers and directors and members of the three following voluntary organizations:

The New Jersey Lumbermen's Protective association.

The Retail Lumbermen's Association of Philadelphia.

The Lumber Exchange, of the District of Columbia.

The government asks a permanent injunction restraining the defendants from continuing the conspiracy charged.

FORT WAYNE MAN SAW THE ROBBERY

Roy Miller Unnoticed by Tramps Who Beat Up Montpelier Man.

RIDING IN A BOX CAR

Lafayette, Ind., May 19.—Beaten until unconscious and robbed of $30 by a gang of tramps on a Wabash freight train west of this city this morning, Sheldon Horton, a young farmer, of Montpelier, O., was thrown from a box car while the train was in motion and succeeded in picking himself up and catching hold of the caboose of the train.

When the freight train reached Lafayette he notified the police and a search was made of the train and three tramps arrested. A revolver, which one of the tramps had dropped, and Horton's hat were found in a car. Roy Miller, of Fort Wayne, who was in the same box car and was not noticed by the tramps, told the police that he saw the robbery.

TUNNEL BUILDER INJURED.

New Brunswick, N. J., May 19.—Wm. G. McAdoo, the New York tunnel builder, will have to stay in the hospital here several days. Two of his ribs and his right arm were broken yesterday and when he and Mrs. J. Borden Harriman were thrown out of an automobile while returning from the Farmingdale preventorium, of which both are directors. Mrs. Harriman escaped with a few cuts and bruises.

FATHER LUIS GOT HIM.

Laporte Man Falls for Hoary Spanish Swindle—Now in Spain.

Laporte, Ind., May 19.—William F. Frantz, of this city, recently disappeared, leaving no trace of his whereabouts. Yesterday letters bearing the postmark of Madrid, Spain, were received by his wife advising her that he had been lured to Spain by a letter supposed to have been written by a political prisoner in a Spanish penal institution, confiding to Frantz the information that he had buried treasure amounting to a fabulous sum and that if he would find it, describing where it would be found, and would give half to an alleged daughter, he could have the remainder.

Yesterday it developed that Frantz borrowed money with which to go on the fortune quest and it is presumed he has been duped by a swindler.

BOOZE AS A PALLIATION.

Logansport, Ind., May 19.—That a man who had subsisted for six weeks on whisky alone, as was shown in the evidence, could not be held responsible for wrong doing, was the argument for the defense of Charles Blocher, accused forger, in his hearing before Judge Lairy here yesterday. Evidence was introduced in the case to show that the defendant for a period of six weeks had consumed on an average thirty glasses of whisky daily and that he sometimes went as long as three days without taking a bite to eat.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Columbus, O., May 19.—Senator Edgar T. Crawford, of Carroll county, accused of soliciting a bribe of $200 from W. H. Cook, of Springfield, secretary of the Ohio Butchers and Grocers association, pleaded not guilty when arraigned in criminal court before Judge Kinkead today.

CHARGE OF FRAUD IN USE OF MAILS

Elmer Wise, of Upland, and Alex. Ward, of Albion, Run Afoul of Law.

ARRESTS AT ALBION

Charged with having used the United States mails for fraudulent purposes, Elmer Wise, of Upland, and Alex Ward, of Albion, were brought to Fort Wayne today for preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner T. J. Logan. The men were arrested at Albion by Deputy United States Marshal Rankin, and while awaiting the arrival of Assistant District Attorney Nichols were locked up in the police station.

The warrant for the arrest of the two men was issued upon the affidavit of Postoffice Inspector Speer. The two men have been operating auction stores throughout eastern Indiana and western Ohio. It is alleged that Wise and Ward were making a practice of ordering merchandise, books, stationery, etc., from various eastern firms, and that on receipt of the goods would immediately repack the shipments and consign them to another point in order to avoid paying for them.

The Narrow Fabric company, of Reading, Pa., caused an investigation to be started, and Inspector Speer obtained at Hicksville, O., a letter that will be used as evidence against the men.

George Russell Yaple, the little son of Judge and Mrs. Carl Yaple, fell from a hammock at the Yaple home this morning and sustained a fracture of the right collar bone.

PARDONED BY GOVERNOR.

Terre Haute Murderer Going Home to Practice Law.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 19.—Governor Marshall issued a full and unconditional pardon yesterday to Joseph Roach, of Terre Haute, who studied law in the Indiana state prison, while he was serving a life sentence for the murder of Matthew Robertson, in 1905. The pardon was issued that Roach might be admitted to the practice of law in Terre Haute.

Roach is a member of a prominent Terre Haute family. The murder was committed in a gambling room in Terre Haute following a quarrel over some stolen money. Robertson was sitting in a chair in the room when Roach approached, drew a revolver from his pocket and shot his victim. The crime was due to Roach's use of morphine, it was alleged.

Contracts of the Moellering Construction company for paving Spy Run avenue and Clay streets have been approved. Work was commenced on Clay street this morning.

Weil Bros. have asked the right to put down their sidewalk on Calhoun street under private contract.

WILL FOUND AND ESTATE IS OPEN

Mrs. Bulger Divided Her Estate Among Her Four Children.

CASES IN THE COURTS

After Ochmig Bird had been appointed administrator of the estate of Eliza J. Bulger on the presumption that she died intestate, a will was found among her papers and was offered for probate in the circuit court today.

The matter was opened on the docket but the declination of the executor named in the will was presented and it is likely that Mr. Bird will be named again.

She left her estate to her children as follows: One-third to Virginia Stuart Bulger to be paid at the rate of $75 a month; the same portion to Laura Bass Jackson on the same conditions; one-sixth to Sophia Bird Strader to be paid $50 a month and the same conditions govern a sixth left to Edward Wilson Bulger.

Before Railroad Commission.

A hearing was given today to a number of shippers in one of the court rooms by the Indiana railroad commission who want a connecting track at Steubenville between the Lake Shore and Wabash roads.

Attorneys for the road are present with an offer to make a freight rate on Portland cement and other products to be handled between the roads that will justify the shippers in handling it under present conditions. The hearing was on all day and no decision had been rendered late this afternoon.

MEETS DEATH IN AMMONIA FUMES

Jonas Astry Suffocated in Basement of Swift Meat Depot.

BELT BREAKS PIPE

Overcome by the deadly fumes of ammonia released by the breaking of a pipe in the basement of the Swift & Company meat depot on East Columbia street late Thursday afternoon, Jonas Astry, 72 years of age, residing at 608 Lavina street, died little more than half an hour later at Hope hospital without having regained consciousness.

William Soden, of Chicago, and E. B. Riley, engineer of the refrigerating plant, who were also in the basement, but nearer the front of it, were seriously affected by the gas but managed to escape to safety by means of the front stairway. From every floor of the building employes fled hastily as the fumes of the gas permeated the structure. Two plumbers, Emil Woebbeking and John Bufford, who were at work upon the third floor, climbed up through a hatchway to the roof to reach fresh air and made their descent by way of the roof of an adjoining building.

JONAS ASTRY,
Fort Wayne Man Who Lost Life in Accident Thursday.

Failed to Gain Safety.

Caught in the rear portion of the basement and failing in his attempt to open the hatchway by which he might have escaped to safety, Astry sank helplessly back into the basement just as Soden and others who had ran around to the rear of the building in search of him lifted the iron doors of the hatchway. As quickly as possible his unconscious form was lifted through the hatchway by firemen and other rescuers working from the alley in the rear of the building. Physicians were at his side within a few minutes and labored strenuously to restore consciousness. The dying man was placed in the police ambulance and driven at top speed to Hope hospital, where the effort was renewed, physicians and nurses exerting every effort against hopeless odds until the passing of the feeble spark of life extinguished the last ray of hope.

Mr. Astry was a carpenter who had been for more than twenty years in the employ of Contractor J. M. Henry. The work of equipping the building for its use by Swift & Company was practically completed, and a few hours more would have finished the task. Earlier in the day several other workmen were employed there, but they had been sent upon another piece of work, or the fatality might have been still greater.

Belt Snapped Off Pipe.

Engineer Riley attributes the accident to the fact that the belt slipped from the drive wheel of the engine used to operate the refrigerating plant and catching a stop cock in the ammonia pipes snapped it off, releasing a heavy stream of ammonia into the basement. The deadly fumes spread with frightful rapidity and men fled for their lives, those upon the first floor turning in an alarm of fire before darting to the street. When Mr. Astry did not come up the rear stairway, other workmen hastened to the rear of the building to seek him while Riley climbed to an upper floor and shut off the inflow of ammonia from the pipes. Soden, who was the first man to reach Mr. Astry, is from the Chicago plant of the company and was superintending the installation of the refrigerating system here. Swift & Co. moved into the building, owned by B. F. Pettit, but ten days ago. Mr. Astry has but recently resumed work after recovering from injuries sustained in a fall at the factory of the Cushion Heel Shoe company. Following his death the remains were removed to the undertaking rooms of Getz & Cahill.

Long Resident of City.

Mr. Astry had been for many years a resident of Fort Wayne, was well known and universally esteemed. He was born in Columbiana county, O., in May, 1839, and came with his parents at the age of 13 years to Allen county, locating upon a farm in Springfield township, which was the family home for many years. The son attended the district schools and later the old M. E. college in Fort Wayne, subsequently devoting some years to school teaching. In 1878 Mr. Astry removed to Garrett, working there about two years at his trade as a carpenter, and coming in 1880 to Fort Wayne, which has since been his home.

Mr. Astry is survived by his widow, four children having preceded the father in death. One of these, a son, lost his life in an accident in 1887, having fallen from a train and sustaining injuries from which he died at St. Joseph's hospital in this city. Two brothers and seven sisters also survive. They are Joseph Astry, formerly a well-known Wabash engineer; Isaac Astry, residing on the old homestead in Springfield township; Mrs. Aminda Zels, Mrs. Martha Hoefle, of Maysville; Mrs. Alice Marlow, Meadville, Pa., Mrs. M. Thompson, Mrs. Samantha Benjamin, Kalamazoo; Mrs. Mary Grill, Spencerville; Miss. Sarah Astry, Chicago. The deceased was an excellent citizen of sterling worth and fine character and every acquaintance was his friend. He had been a member of the Masonic fraternity for many years, holding membership in Summit City lodge No. 170 and in the Fort Wayne Lodge of Perfection, Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite.

Funeral services from the Scottish Rite cathedral at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon; interment at Lindenwood.

The deceased was born in Ilser Heide, Prussia, Aug. 9, 1841, and came to the United States forty years ago. For over thirty years he was employed as coremaker at Bass foundry, and afterwards accepted a position at the Menefee foundry, which he held for four years. During the past two years has been employed at the city parks. He was united in marriage to Miss Charlotte Westenfeldt thirty-eight years ago. To this union ten children were born, four of whom have preceded him in death. The deceased was a charter member of Zion's Lutheran church and an active member in the Bruederlicher Unterstuetzungs Verein.

He is survived by a widow and the following children: Herman, Henry, Christ, Ferdinand, William and Clara Zepperning, all of this city, and one brother, living in Germany. BOHLING.

Mrs. Louise Bohling, aged 66 years, widow of William Bohling, died at 7:25 o'clock Thursday evening at her home, 2307 Force street. About two weeks ago Mrs. Bohling sustained a serious scalp wound by a fall, and never recovered from effect of it. She contracted pneumonia last Wednesday and this hastened her death. The deceased was born in Germany and came to the United States with her parents at the age of 11 years. She is survived by four children, Henry Bohling, of Marion; William Bohling, of Pontiac, Ill., and Marry and Inez Bohling, residing at home, and two brothers and three sisters, Gust and Frederick Fahlsing, Mrs. Henry Rehling, Mrs. Sophia Schmarizrieth and Mrs. Minnie Walda, all of this city. The deceased was a devout member of Zion Lutheran church.

NOW IT'S A BOUDOIR COACH.

The Burlington Railroad Plans Special Cars for Women.

A sigh of relief escaped from the women of Chicago when they learned that the Burlington road is going to equip two of its trains with parlor cars especially equipped for the fair sex, says a Chicago dispatch to the New York World.

"It's high time we got our rights on the railroads," Mrs. Arthur Gassaway, of Michigan boulevard, said. "These ordinary parlor cars have such narrow doors it is almost impossible to get a picture hat in sideways."

The superintendent of the Burlington is being overwhelmed with suggestions as to how to equip and decorate the new "boudoir cars." One woman phoned that it would be ridiculous not to have mirrors in the backs of the seats. Another gentle creature wants the forward sill of each and every window converted into a pincushion.

"There should be racks for hatpins, too," said a message from a dowager.

Each of the new cars is to have a boudoir provided with every feminine comfort and convenience, including powder puffs, it is said, and an unlimited supply of pins.

YOUNG WOMAN IS PSYCHIC MEDIUM

A Toledo Girl Does Some Startling Feats in That Line.

IT PUZZLES HYSLOP

Toledo, Ohio, May 19.—In Miss Ada M. Besinnet, aged 20, Toledo has a nonprofessional psychic medium who is the object of great interest by men and societies that for years have investigated the wonderfully interesting subject of communication with the unseen.

Five times since January, 1908, Professor James H. Hyslop, of New York, head of the American society for Psychical Research, has come to Toledo to test the feats of Miss Besinnet. These tests have been consecutive sittings varying from ten to fourteen days. In addition the girl has been subjected to the most rigid tests by two local physicians and other investigators of psychic phenomena who came from London, Edinburgh and other distant places.

Hyslop Makes Report.

In a 642-page printed report by Professor Hyslop to the American Society for Psychical Research, Professor Hyslop deals minutely with the phenomena shown as a result of Miss Besinnet's power.

He admits that he could not catch Miss Besinnet "faking" any of the feats ordinarily performed by mediums and highly praises her honesty. He admits that he cannot explain what her friends regard as her most wonderful feat, which is to aid in the simultaneous production in a trumpet of whistling and singing.

Normally, Miss Besinnet has no musical ability, according to all who know her. Her efforts to sing usually cause jests by her family. Her normal voice is weak.

Sings in Trance.

While she is in a trance she sings, as only a trained vocalist can, and marvelous whistlings are produced in the trumpet. Professor Hyslop says in his report that the whistling was like that of a vaudeville performer and that if Miss Besinnet could do it in the normal state she could realize a small fortune.

The singing and whistling were done after the physicians had closely examined her throat. Professor Hyslop says it certainly was not ventriloquism.

Miss Besinnet easily caused for Professor Hyslop the effects usually produced by professional mediums. Rapping he believed unquestionably to be genuine. She also, at a distance, started and stopped a phonograph repeatedly, caused trumpets and tambourines to flit about the room, raised a 150-pound table one foot and rang bells.

Feats Puzzle Hyslop.

Professor Hyslop will not admit that these things resulted from supernormal influences, but suspects that the girl did them unconsciously while in the trance. To Toledoans not of Hyslop's suspicious turn of mind the developments were most amazing because every precaution against conscious or unconscious trickery was taken.

Tomorrow is straw hat day at the Patterson-Fletcher store. Drop in and see their wonderful display.

Will offer at public sale, on Saturday, May 20, corner known as the Romy Homestead, all my household and Baltes and Spy Run Ave., kitchen furniture.

CITY BREVITIES.

A board sidewalk fro mthe Nickel Plate tracks to the Hanna Breckenridge company building, caught fire from sparks from an engine at noon today, and was slightly damaged. The blaze was extinguished by the fire department.

The following patients were admitted to the Lutheran hospital Thursday: Mrs. Esther Guy, of Atwood; Mrs. F. D. Spencer, Wolf Lake; George Keplinger, of Fourth street; William Rotenbeck, of Hale avenue, and James A. Brown, Walton avenue.

Mrs. Wright Huntington arrived from New York this afternoon to visit for some time with Miss Stella Hunter, of West Wayne street. Mr. Huntington will join his wife for a visit a little later.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.

BROKEN WAGON DELAYS TRAFFIC

One of the Home Supply company's big coal wagons, driven by Joe Middleton, caused considerable delay in traffic on the east street car track on Calhoun street today noon. The rear wheel of the wagon was crushed under the weight of nearly [illegible] and it took the united efforts of a dozen bystanders to [illegible] off of the track when a big Lima-Fort Wayne interurban car attempted to pass. Quite a number of city cars were blocked by the accident.

OWES LIFE TO HIS CORK FEET

John Schroeder Frightfully Burned at Traction Sub-Station.

MANY MEET MISHAP

To the fact that he had two artificial feet John Schroeder, 24 years old, an employe of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company, owes his escape from instant death by electrocution Thursday afternoon at the portable sub-station on Taylor street, a short distance west of the St. Mary's river.

Schroeder came in contact with an electric wire carrying a voltage of 33,000, but his artificial limbs prevented a complete circuit of the current. The man sustained frightful burns upon the face, hips and the right hand, but at St. Joseph's hospital today it was stated that in all probability Schroeder would recover, though it may be necessary to amputate his right hand. Schroeder's home is at Roann, and he lost his feet in an accident a year ago last November, when he fell from a train on which he was stealing a ride.

Schroeder had been employed for a short time at the portable sub-station and the accident in which he nearly lost his life occurred during the electrical storm Thursday afternoon. The man is confused as to details, and just how it happened can only be conjectured. It is believed, however, that when lightening struck the wires leading into the sub-station and caused a blaze near the transformers, Schroeder became alarmed and climbed into the small machinery compartment to throw apart the lightening arresters and break the flow of current into the station. It was when he grasped the lightening arresters that he received the frightful charge of electricity and was held a helpless prisoner, leaning partly out of a window until his cries for help were heard by some carpenters at work in a house near by. They feared to attempt the man's rescue until the power station could be notified to cut off the current from the station, and Schroeder was then taken through the small window of the sub-station, down a ladder and hurried to St. Joseph's hospital, where Dr. W. W. Barnett attended him.

Woman's Condition Serious.

Mrs. J. N. Urbines, residing on the Auburn road, is in a very serious condition at St. Joseph's hospital as the result of an accident on Clinton street, near the city crematory late Thursday afternoon, when the horse she was driving, in running away, struck against a telephone pole and hurled Mrs. Urbines and her little daughter out of the carriage. The child escaped injury and the mother's injuries were at first believed to be merely superficial. Today, however, she was delirious and there are indications of brain concussion that may prove serious.

The horse became frightened either at an approaching automobile or at some other object. The automobile, driven by W. B. McMaken, was stopped at once and in it the injured woman was conveyed first to the office of Dr. C. M. Goheen and later to the hospital. Mr. McMaken and other gentlemen who saw the accident say they do not believe the horse became frightened at the auto, but at some other object, for the horse was apparently beyond control long before the machine came up and passed it.

Was Struck by Racing Auto.

Claude Noll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Noll, 2316 Lillie street, was struck by an automobile at Main and Clinton streets at 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon as he was riding his bicycle and sustained a bad gash above the left eye and cuts and bruises on other portions of the body. The auto which struck him was a racing machine from Jackson, Mich., en route to Indianapolis, carrying four men. They picked up the young man and conveyed him to the hospital.

Babe Drinks Gasoline.

While at play upon the rear porch of the home at 445 Buchanan street, Thursday afternoon, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Yarman, 11 months old, got hold of a can of gasoline and sucked up a quantity of the fluid through the spout of the can. For a time it was feared the little one could not survive, but today the outlook was more hopeful. The father is an engineer on the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad.

News of Fort Wayne's Neighbors

FULTON WOMAN MISSING.

Mrs. Mary Mills Supposed to Have Drowned in Mud Lake.

Rochester, Ind., May 19.—Residents of Allen township and the south part of Fulton county were greatly excited yesterday afternoon because of a report that Mrs. Mary Mills had drowned herself in South Mud lake. A party was organized and all arrangements have been made to drag the lake in hopes of recovering the body. Mrs. Mills lived with her husband and two children on what is known as the "Old Banks place," or the "Champ farm," west of Fulton. It is alleged that of late she has been acting queerly and disappeared from her home Wednesday night. In the attempt to find her she was traced as far as South Mud lake and then all traces disappeared and it is presumed that she took her own life in the water. Mrs. Mills is about 22 or 23 years of age, and is the daughter of Mr. Carson, who committed suicide in this city several years ago. No cause can be learned for her desire to quit life, and the whole affair is surrounded with deep mystery to the citizens of Macy and Allen township.

EAGLES PLAN INITIATION.

Garrett, Ind., May 19.—The greatest secret order initiation in this city in a long time will take place next Monday evening, when twenty-five applicants will be admitted into Garrett aerie No. 1357, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

The aerie has been forming this class for several weeks and the ceremonies of initiation will be elaborate. The Chicago, Ohio, aerie will be represented by twenty-five members and the Garrett Military band and Garrett aerie will meet No. 7 that afternoon to escort the visitors to the local lodge's hall. In the evening the band will play when the whole body of Eagles marches from the Keyser hotel to the Eagles hall. A banquet will be served. J. E. Beinke and O. H. Betts, both past worthy presidents, are an executive committee making arrangements for the event.

The Grand opera house will be open to holders of tickets at 1 o'clock p. m., June 2, 1911. No admission except by ticket until 2 o'clock. CITY MARSHAL UNDER ARREST.

Montpelier, Ind., May 19.—Marshal Jack Lee, of this city, is under bond of $300 to appear in Mayor Sweigart's court next Monday evening to plead to sensational charges made by Miss Ruth Brukner, a milliner, who accuses the officer of assault and battery with intent to commit a felony. Lee was arrested by Sheriff John Clamme and Deputy Ira Mannix and taken to Hartford City Wednesday night in an automobile. Lee employed counsel to defend him and was released when his attorney, A. G. Emshwiller, provided bail.

North Manchester, Ind., May 19.—The S. S. Cox Show Case company, which recently was secured for this city, through the efforts of local people, on Wednesday filed articles of association with the secretary of state and with the county recorder. MANY ATTEND FUNERAL.

Huntington, Ind., May 19.—In spite of the downpour which kept many people from taking part, the funeral of A. D. Mohler yesterday afternoon was largely attended and it was impossible for all of the friends to gain admittance to the home on Guilford street where the services were conducted. Rev. Frank Lenig was in charge and Odd Fellows conducted services at the residence while the Knights of Pythias were in charge at the grave. Interment was at Mt. Hope.

EXERCISES ABANDONED.

Warsaw, Ind., May 19.—It is practically decided that the commencement exercises of the Warsaw high school will be abandoned this year, owing to the tragedy at Tippecanoe lake, in which a senior and junior were drowned Tuesday. Instead of the regular commencement exercises memorial services will be held in honor of the two boys, Maurice Gary and Bernard Minear, who lost their lives while bathing. The affair has thrown the entire population of Warsaw into a state of gloom.

INTERCLASS TRACK MEET.

Columbia City, Ind., May 19.—Everything is in readiness for the first track meet ever to be held in this city and at 4 o'clock this afternoon the interclass contest will be started between the seniors and freshmen of the local high school and the representatives of the sophomores and juniors combined. GREEKS LOSE JOBS.

Kendallville, Ind., May 19.—Seventy-five Greek laborers who have been employed in this city and vicinity, were laid off indefinitely Wednesday. They have been employed in the repairing of the tracks and the placing of the ballast, but from present indications it appears as though the company is cutting down expenses and in so doing is laying off as many men as it can get along without.

FASHION HAS ROBBED MANY.

A Paris letter to the London Daily Mail says: The fashion of sending great quantities of wreaths to funerals is on the decline in Paris, and as a result 5,000 to 6,000 workmen and workwomen on whom 18,000 persons depend are unemployed.

The decline in the vogue of the wreath is traced to a well known Paris preacher, who urged bereaved relatives to spend their money on masses for the dead instead of on flowers.

IN THE CHURCHES

THE CLOSE OF CONFERENCE

Last Session of State Meeting of the Congregationalists..

PROF. WARD SPEAKS

The address of Prof. Frank G. Ward, Chicago, whose theme was "Reducing the Risks," delivered last evening, closed the four days' state conference of the Congregational Churches and ministers of Indiana, the sessions of which were held at the Plymouth Congregational church. Prof. Ward is an entertaining speaker and his address contained excellent thought.

"Prosperity," he said, " has its risks, its dangers, as well as adversity, and the question that confronts every earnest person is how to meet them. We cannot dodge the risks, individual or social, but he can so meet them as to reduce them. In this way life is made richer and safer for all. Religious training is essential, to this efficiency. The danger of power, apart from moral restraint and direction, is the greatest menace. This suggests the churches' task."

The convention adjourned without naming the place for the next annual meeting. This is a matter that is left to the newly appointed council. Announcement for the place will be made in March of next year.

The addresses delivered during the sessions of the convention were all of superior merit, helpful and interesting, and the delegates returned to their homes strengthened for the work along religious lines that they renew with increased earnestness. All speak highly of the pleasant manner in which they were entertained while in the city and resolutions embodying this statement and the usual vote of thanks were passed at the closing sessions.

DEMANDS $100,000 OF TURKEY.

Washington, May 19.—There was an echo yesterday of the attack on Miss Agnes Parker Moore, of Terre Haute, by an Afghan fanatic at the Mosque of Omar, which occurred on March 9, last year, and which was a subject of considerable publicity at the time. Miss Moore was fired upon by the fanatic just as she entered the shrine. She lost an eye and suffered a severe scalp wound, for which she now asks $100,000 damages from the Turkish government. Senator Kern, on behalf of Miss Moore, yesterday took the matter up with the secretary of state, who cabled Miss Moore's demands to Ambassador Rockhill at Constantinople, with instructions to lay them before the proper government officials.

Thomas Mungovan, the veteran blacksmith, who was severely burned several days ago by the furnace fire flaring out and enveloping him at the Wabash shops, is getting along first rate and will be at work again in a few days. Mr. Mungovan, although nearly four score years, has recuperative powers that would be of great benefit to athletes. He called at the shop yesterday.

Is making our store a very busy place. The people are finding out that all stores and all advertisements are not alike. The people are finding out that we are doing just what we advertised we would do during the year 1911. That is, to sell you men's and boys' fine wearables 10 to 20 per cent. less than you can find them in any other store in the city. It is your trade and the trade of your neighbors that make it possible for us to sell you hats, underwear and clothing at the prices we are selling them for. If we did no more business than the other clothing stores we could not show you twice the stock or give you the prices we are giving. Even if you do not care to save a few dollars yourself (which we think you do) you ought to help make it possible for your neighbor to do so.

Dan Tank, Patriot

"They are, on general principles," explained Murphy. "They're for a franchise for The New Company, but not this franchise. They want to amend it, and we ain't got no orders about any amendments. So that makes three against it; and then, sir, Harper he votes with 'em."

"Harper!" exclaimed Tank, in amazement. "Why?"

"Search me," said Murphy. "He don't say. He's got Vining's ten thousand, same as the others did, I guess; but what's he deliverin' on it for?"

"Harper ain't a durned fool," exclaimed Tank. "He can still figure, and when he figures, he knows it's worth more to be my councilman four times over in any year than it is to take Vining's ten thou' and quit tomorrow; and that's what's come to him—that and then some!" Tank's face hardened and his great molars ground upon one another with a wicked sound.

"That's the way it looks to me, too," assented Murphy; but for the moment his wrath was held in suspense. His thought of Harper was not uncharitable. He knew the man well and liked him, liked him enough to be very patient; and here lay some of Tank's wonderful power over his men. He allowed a man to be human, to be eccentric, and he could be indulgent with the whims and crotchets of the cattle he used to work his will, provided only that they did go to the block like honest chattels and sell themselves for him in the end or at the end. It was a theory of Tank's that "there's always a way to start a man goin' right and keep him goin' right," if only he could find it. Patiently he tried to find that way. Usually he succeeded.

"Say," he said, looking down at his boot thoughtfully the while, "you don't s'pose Harper's in a tight place, needin' money or something? Y'know he put all his into that chemical works, and it's hard sleddin' since the panic and with the Bakin' Powder Trust goin' after him, too. S'pose old Vining's got some kind of a line on him like that?"

"I don't know, maybe," hesitated Murphy, plainly flat on his back so far as thinking the thing out was concerned.

"Why wouldn't he come to me, though, if he needs money? I'd help him out," the Boss added. "How'd he act?"

"Queer—queer," said Murphy. "I don't know just what to expect when a man goes back on his friends and sits down in the electric chair, all for some darn fool reason. S'pose it'd make him act queer, but he didn't act like the same old Harper, not by several laps, he didn't. Had a kind of a martyr look in his eye—like he was doin' right for a principle, a-goin' to the rack for somebody else, y'know. That's the way I figured it, and as I ain't used to suspectin' nobody of such a disposition I reckon there must 'a' been something in him that suggested it."

"So!" said Tank, rather sympathetically. "Well, you take the machine and go up to Harper's house and bring him down here."

Harper was willing enough to come, though it was close to midnight.

"What the hell, Harper?" asked Tank, with some emphasis.

"I'm sewed up, Dan," said Harper with a mournful voice, sinking into a chair. "Sorry, but I am."

Tank looked him over, up one side and down and across, from where he sat at his desk, the gas-light burning feebly. Tank had the finest possible sense of when to be brutal and when not. Under ordinary conditions men who thwarted him might expect to feel his wrath. Threats, browbeatings, blows and a bitter enmity, that never ceased until he had crushed the traitor, followed oftentimes when men resisted him or proved disloyal. But the time had not come for this. To-night Tank was calm, self-controlled, almost sympathetic.

"How're you sewed up, Harper?" he asked, more patiently than when he first addressed him.

"Tight!" murmured Harper, like a sick man between clenched teeth, "tight!"

"I've cut many a stitch in my time," said Tank.

"Not this one, Dan," replied Harper in a low tone, with a roll of his head from one hand to the other. "You don't hold the shears. Other fellow's got 'em."

There was a sad, deathly smile as he spoke.

"Take him away," ordered Tank in the next minute, with a sudden change of mood. "Take him away; he makes me feel bad."

So Murphy took him away.

"Come back in the morning," the Boss called to Murphy, "and we'll have another look at it."

Then Tank went home and to bed.

"What's old Vining done to Harper?" he said in his thought as he dozed off.

"Old Vining's got some kind of a crooked line on Harper is what my money says," he yawned to himself some eight or nine hours later, as he sat on the edge of his bed in the rather luxurious bachelor apartments which he allowed himself in one corner of the business block on which his roof garden theatre was situated.

Playground a Beauty.

The new playground will be a delight to thousands of children who will enjoy its privileges. The installation of the apparatus has been practically completed, but much remains to be done in the way of finishing touches, including the construction of a dike along the bend of the river to guard the grounds against possible damage in time of high water. Messrs. O. N. Guldlin, W. M. Griffin, C. R. Weatherhogg and Fred M. Graham, the equipment committee, have done excellent work in the preparation of the big play-spot.

After the close of the schools for the term the grounds will be opened daily at 8:30 o'clock, in charge of Miss Carrie Snively. She will be assisted by Miss Erickson, Miss Williams, Miss Havens and Harrison Winters.

Where do you buy your children's clothes? Before buying the suit for the boy come in and see what we have to offer you.

SOCIETY

Both great beauty and elegance combined in making the reception which Mrs. William Morton Griffin held this afternoon an affair or much social distinction. The beauties of the hostess' home were enhanced with a profusion of roses so that it was veritably a rose tea and the fragrance of the American beauty and pink Killarney roses scented the air in all the downstairs rooms. Mrs. Griffin was assisted in receiving in the livingroom by Mrs. Austin Stults and by Mrs. B. M. Wylie, of Indianapolis, who is her guest. A number of ladies who aided in meeting the callers were Mrs. Herbert Bond, Mrs. Louis A. Centlivre and Mrs. A. E Barnes. The livingroom had an effective decoration with the inglenook fireplace banked high with ferns and branches of spirea. Large vases of pink roses stood on the piano. The hall was rich in coloring with the beauty roses and the first landing of the stairway was screened with ferns behind which young's stringed orchestra rendered a program during the hours of the reception. The parlor, diningroom and breakfast rooms were done with pink roses and a few ferns and all chandeliers were entwined with plumosus, thus softening the lights greatly. The effect throughout was charming. Mrs. John Eggeman served punch and Mrs. Fred McCulloch, Mrs Stephen B. Trentman and the Misses Maude and Jeannette Muhler lent assistance in serving. The guests found further pleasure on the wide verandah of the house where luxurious seats tempted one to linger and white and purple lilacs and bowls of lilies of the valley bore testimony to the fruits of the flower garden of the Griffin home. Mrs. Auger did the decorating of the house.

Miss Harriet Frazer, of Des Moines, Ia., who is visiting Mrs. W. T. Shepard, was the guest of honor at a luncheon which Mrs. Shepard gave at the Anthony hotel at 1 o'clock today. After the luncheon the young ladies enjoyed a game of bridge at the home of Mrs. Shepard in the White apartments. Roses and carnations formed an effective decoration of the rooms. The guests who enjoyed this pretty affair were Miss Ruth Beers, Miss Florence Lang, Miss Alice Worden, Miss Clara Thieme, Miss Helen Morris and Miss Ruth Evans.

A lovely announcement party was given this afternoon by Mrs. E. H. Merritt at her home in West Woodland avenue in honor of the engagement of her sister, Miss Gertrude Williams, to Karl ZurMuehlen, of Deer Lodge, Mont. The house was decorated with many branches of spirea and the effect of the green and white in all of the rooms was beautiful. At the dinner, which will be served at half after 6 o'clock, the table will present the same appropriate coloring. In the center of the table a miniature Pullman train signifies the business of the elected bridegroom and the favors of tiny suitcases filled with bonbons and a small card picture of Mr. ZurMuehlen indicate the coming wedding trip of Miss Williams, who will go to Montana to live after her marriage, which will take place in June. Mr. ZurMuehlen is a son of Mrs. Louise ZurMuehlen, of West Butler street. He has charge of the toolroom for the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound railroad at Deer Lodge, Mont. Formerly Mr. ZurMuehlen had a similar position with the Wabash shops in this city. He is a young man of fine character and much ability. Miss Williams has been employed as cashier for the Central Union Life Insurance company for several years and is very highly regarded by all who know her. Personally Miss Williams is pretty and attractive with a sweet manner. Guests at this prenuptial party were intimate friends and included Miss Leora Kanaga, Miss Elsie ZurMuehlen, Miss Clara Poole, Miss Grace Benoy, Miss Ethel Rank, Mrs. E. C. Hughes, Mrs. A. J. Morell, Miss Bertha Hockemeyer, Miss Cour, Mrs. H. L. Jamieson, Mrs. S. P. Coppock, Mrs. Marvin Miller, Miss Nellie Tinkham, Miss Lillian Ortman, Mrs. Guy Bassett, Mrs. L. F. Johnson, Mrs. S. B. Martin—Shedd.

Many Fort Wayne friends of the bride are interested in learning the details of the wedding of Miss Alice Shedd, of Danville, Ill., to Mr. Walter Huber Martin, of the same city, which took place Thursday evening, May 18, in the Episcopal church. The bride was attended by Miss Margaret Hanna, a cousin from this city, who was maid of honor, and by Mrs. Howard Shedd and Miss Margaretta Parks. The bridegroom's attendants were Mr. James Allen, of Covington, Ind., a college friend, and Messrs. Paul Palmer and Herbert Custer. The bride's brother, Lieut. William E. Shedd, jr., of Fort Wadsworth, N. Y., gave her away. The bride wore white satin, made with long train and trimmed only on the bodice with real lace. The bridal bouquet was made of lilies of the valley and white orchids. The bride wore a veil held to the hair with flowers. Miss Hanna wore a white gauze hung over white satin with trimmings of chantilly lace and hand embroideries in gold thread. Miss Hanna carried a large bouquet of marguerites. A reception was held at the home of the bride after the marriage service. At midnight the bride and groom went away for an eastern trip. Mr. Martin is a civil engineer with headquarters in Danville, and the bride and groom will make their home with the bride's mother.

Closing Recital for Season.

The last recital for the season given under the management of the Packard Piano company, was heard by a good sized audience last evening in Packard hall. The oppressive heat diminished the number of people who customarily attend. Earl Calkins, cellist, and Howard Van Sweringen, player pianist, gave a beautiful program which delighted all present. Mr. Calkins was enthusiastically received and encored. Of his numbers the Ave Maria by Gounod and the scherzo by Von Goens were particularly pleasing, showing the advancement in technic which this progressive young performer has made since he left this city. Mr. Van Sweringen did his usual good work on the Packard player piano and displayed both musical taste and skill in accompaniments to the cellist.

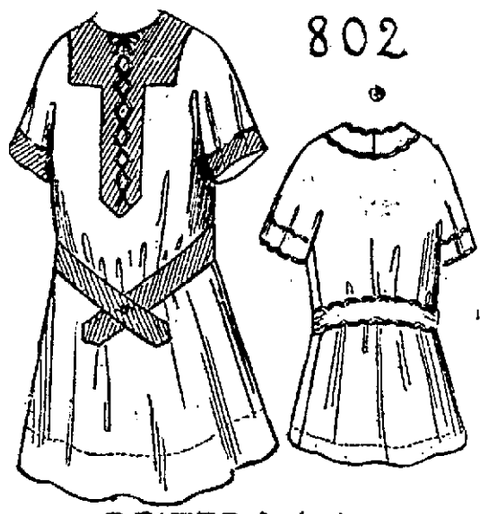
TIMELY TIPS.

When moving time comes around it is well to remember that when we close the door on the house or apartment we are leaving it does not necessarily mean its usefulness as a place of residence is past. It is liable to be occupied the very next day, and by some one whose opinion we value very much. Here the golden rule can be practised advantageously. No one likes to move into a place littered with unpleasant mementoes of the family which has gone. Before leaving a vacated house or apartment it is well to make a complete circuit of every room, gathering together everything that has been overlooked and sending it to the ash heap. This will eliminate all possibility of leaving behind something of value, and at the same time will put the place in proper condition for the next occupant.

EARLY SUMMER MODEL.

By MRS. JANE FORD.



The style and simple construction of the model pictured is sure to be appreciated by the mothers who is planning smart but inexpensive morning frocks for her small daughter. Although many attractive styles of dresses are constantly being introduced, there is nothing that is better liked or more practical than the one piece models. The novel feature of this frock is the lacing at the yoke, which is not difficult to arrange and adds much to its appearance.

This style dress may be developed in any cotton or linen tub goods, but for everyday wear galatea will give satisfaction. This weave may be had in both white and colors, and the same goods in a contrasting color can be used for the trimming. One may be surprised to know that this garment can be cut out and completely finished in less than two hours. The under arm seams are made with a French fell, and the neck, sleeves and lower edge of the frock are faced on the right side with trimming. Plain bias bands are used for the sleeves and lower edge, but the neckpiece is shaped, a pattern for which is given. The lacing is effected by working eyelets on either edge of the front opening, through which the cord is run.

To copy the little dress for a miss of four it requires only two yards of twenty-seven inch goods, or one and five-eighths yards of thirty-six inch goods.

THE GRADUATING GOWN.

There are two times in the life of a girl when the subject of a single dress is of momentous importance to her and when all other subjects are relegated to the background until this one is definitely settled. First in point of importance is the bridal gown, but first in point of time is the graduation dress.

The sweet girl graduate is clad in a gown of fairy whiteness, just as a bride is gowned in virginal white. She chooses some sheer, inexpensive material symbolic of her girlhood and carries out the idea of youth in all the accessories of dress. An overdressed girl graduate is a sorry sight, and every mother or guardian should carefully guard against such a mistake. The girl who has pinched through school by dint of many sacrifices and who is wearing a simple little frock of lawn trimmed in tucks is far smarter and more attractive, because her girlishness is accentuated by the simplicity of her dress.

Dotted swiss is one of the prettiest of the sheer white materials for graduation gowns. It requires less trimming than the plain fabrics and is practical, because it launders well. Irish crochet lace can be purchased at reasonable prices at one of the larger stores, and it looks particularly well in the dotted swiss.

Organdie has lost none of its favor as a typical fabric for the frock of the young girl. Its misty folds float about a slender form in graceful billows, suggestive of spring time. Fine Valenciennes and Mechlin laces are most effective with organdies and with French lawn or India linen.

Sheerest handkerchief linen is a graduation day frock favorite that has won favor by reason of its softness and its ability to come fresh and new from the tub. Cluny, baby Irish or Irish crochet lace are all appropriate trimmings that help create a fascinating lingerie model.

For the girl who likes something more elaborate there is fine white net. A gown of this kind should be made as simple as possible, the best designs being built with empire waists, wound with supple ribbon sashes or bound with a silk cord with tasselled ends. A plain shirring should finish the neck, and if trimming is used at all it should be sparingly.

White shoes of kid or suede should be worn with such a costume. The wearing of gloves is governed largely by the custom of the school or college from which the girl is to be graduated.

How to Beautify Your Complexion

"Adding permanent beauty to the face, neck and arms is by no means a difficult matter," says Mae Martyn in the Philadelphia Call. "But the greatest mistake which thousands of women make daily is the practice of smearing their faces with powder. This stops up the pores in the skin, causing pimples, enlarged pores and other facial blemishes that are difficult to overcome.

"The best skin whitener and complexion beautifier known to beauty specialists is made by dissolving four ounces spurmax in one-half pint hot water with two teaspoonfuls glycerine added. This inexpensive lotion is very fine for clearing up a rough, oily or sallow skin. It quickly corrects a shiny, lifeless, condition giving the skin a smooth, satiny tone. After once you try it, you will have no further use for face powder as it doesn't show or rub off so easily."

HOW TO TREAT A HUSBAND

AS TOLD BY A KNOWING WIFE.

"We hear a lot of groaning and gnashing of teeth these days over the lack of domesticity in the modern woman," remarked the wise wife as she wrote a check in payment of a recently purchased vacuum cleaner. "They say we devote too much attention to current events, and not enough to the events within the home, and that twelve hours of hard labor of the old-fashioned sort is better for our domestic development than five hours with the modern labor saving devices Can you beat that for jealousy?

"If the truth were told they are only afraid that old tradition about the lords of creation will be exploded once we are not tied to the house from 4 o'clock in the morning until 7 at night. These days we have time to brush the cobwebs off our brain, to read the daily papers and to become acquainted with the magazines and periodicals. We learn a few things.

"But just because we don't happen to be doing housework does not mean we are apart from the home interests. Rather are we placing the home on a higher basis by introducing an atmosphere which will keep the interest centered at home. The wife, the mother, is the pivot upon which the thought, action and conversation of the family turns. She should be a storehouse of knowledge, be able to talk on a score of interesting topics and be always abreast of the times. This knowledge does not come without intellectual research and frequent sallies into the world where things happen.

"When I first married Bob," the wife continued reminiscently, "the experience of having a house all my own to do with as I pleased was so novel and carried with it such a weight of responsibility that I couldn't bear to leave it, even to go to the theater.

"The habit of staying at home grew upon me until going down town to buy a new gown became a burden. And as for social affairs, I never attended them. One day Bob insisted that I accept an invitation to dinner from some friends. I shall never forget the embarrassment of that dinner. I might have come from another world, so lost was I to the conversation. I sat there in dazed silence while they discussed the newest books, the latest play and a half dozen topics of the hour. The rest of the women seemed to know all about them, as much or more than their husbands. And I noticed Bob's eyes flash with admiration at the brilliant sallies of one woman who seemed to have the situations thoroughly in hand.

"The next day I went down to the book shop, bought half a dozen magazines, hunted up the papers as far back as I could and sat down to burnish up my stock of information. There wasn't any pie for dinner that night, but when I asked Bob if he thought the article in a current magazine about transportation aeroplanes was practical—Bob adores aeroplanes and reads everything published about them—he looked stunned and settled down to a half hour of the best real conversation we had enjoyed in weeks.

"There are no candles to mould today, no wool to spin, no soap to make, but the man who pines for the old days is pretty sure to chat with the entertaining woman, enjoy the chat and do his pining afterward.

"The successful wife of today knows a thing or two and mixes a goodly portion of intellect with her canned fruits and table linen."

THE VALUE OF FRESH AIR.

The girl who wants to look bright and fresh, with clear skin and a sparkling eye, simply must learn that the first rule for acquiring this freshness and sparkle or for retaining it is to sleep in a room which is plentifully supplied with fresh air. If she is too tired to go to the trouble of opening the window, or if she forgets, she must expect a heavy head, a dull eye and a lifeless complexion the next morning.

Sleep is nature's method of restoring the used up energy of the day. During the hours of slumber she sets to work all her carpenters and mechanicians rebuilding the worn tissues of the body, getting them in smooth running order so that she may send a practically new person out into the world at the beginning of another day.

One of the storage batteries from which nature draws her supplies is the air. If this supply is fresh and pure, the result will be a finished, perfected piece of work. But if an inferior supply of air is furnished for the repairing, the result is bound to be anything but satisfactory. Nature cannot make a perfect man from imperfect material, any more than man can make a brand new garment out of a worn piece of cloth.

Fresh air in the room does not mean that the sleeper must have a gale blowing down upon him or that he must sleep in a current of air. Draughts should be avoided and damp air should be admitted to the room sparingly. Be careful to have the sleeping room open as much as possible to the fair and sunshine during the day. At night lower windows from the top and raise the blinds so that the air has free passage.

This fresh air invigorator will be found a certain remedy for that dazed feeling that accompanies early rising and will loose the bonds of lethargy that hold one in bed long past the hour appointed for getting up. It will mean less lateness to work, less lagging of the housework, more outdoor activity and more of the spirit of fun and frolic socially. Best of all, it will subtract years from both the appearance and the feeling of men and women.

Your good judgment will decide on a New Idea Sanitary Gas Range after seeing all others.

THE FAD FOR EARLY RISING.

An early to bed and early to rise is the latest craze of society. The foshion was set by a number of smart women whose physician held in high disdain their sacred custom of breakfasting in bed. In favor of the benefits to be derived from an adherence to the old adage, he says:—

"Practicaly ninety per cent. of us rise an hour too late. Everybody up to the age of sixty years should be downstairs by seven o'clock. Then a two mile walk, a ride on horseback or a cycle spin should follow. Lack of money is no excuse, for walks cost nothing but effort.

"If this course were followed there would be a real desire for breakfast—a desire which I suppose is absent in ninety-nine per cent. of the people who rise late. While it is easy to develop an appetite for subsequent meals of the day, breakfast is different. For several hours one has been in bed and a fresh supply of oxygen is necessitated. This can only be obtained by genuine exercise before the meal, not by a casual spin on the veranda.

"But this early rising is not good unless there is also an early retiring to bed. Children used formerly to go to bed at eight o'clock and their parents at eleven. Nowadays the children go to bed at the latter hour and the parents the next morning. If early hours were made the thing, a vast amount of neurasthenia, nervous breakdowns and cases of melancholia would be avoided."

NIGHTCAP STORIES

THE STORY OF AN ELEPHANT.

In every large circus where the animals and trainers and performers travel and work together many strange friendships are to be met with. The story about to be told is about the friendship of a huge elephant and a little girl. The little girl who was the elephant's friend was the daughter of the trainer. She was only four years old and all the animals knew and loved her, but Betsy, the elephant, especially favored her. She would pick her up with her trunk and swing her high in the air, which was great fun, Mimi thought.

Of course every one knows that while there are good tempered and gentle elephants, there are also very wicked ones. In the herd there was one very big fellow who gave the trainer considerable trouble. One day when he was more bad tempered than usual he was given no hay for supper. His punishment made him sulky, and presently when the trainer walked by with Mimi trotting along behind him a wicked gleam shone from his little eyes. He concluded to be revenged by killing the dear little girl whom every one loved.

But faithful Betsy was watching him. Just as he leaned forward and raised his powerful trunk to strike Mimi, Betsy quickly picked her up and placed her beyond his reach.

All the circus people came and praised Betsy and it was decided to sell the bad elephant, so that he might never again try to injure Mimi.

Cucumber Jelly Salad.

Pare and cut fine three large cucumbers. Put in an agate saucepan with one small onion cut fine, one teaspoonful of peppercorns, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar and a pint and a half of cold water. Heat and stew slowly until very tender. Add one-half of a package of granulated gelatine soaked in one-half of a cupful of cold water and stir until dissolved. Strain through wetted cheese cloth. Add enough leaf green color paste to color a pale green and set aside to chill. When beginning to thicken, line small wetted molds with thin slices of cucumber, pour in the thickening jelly and place on ice until firm. Serve on lettuce leaves with mayonnaise or a French dressing.

Rhubarb Betty.

Mix together three cupfuls of fine stale bread crumbs, one cupful of sugar, a pinch of salt, one teaspoonful of mixed ground spice and one-half of a cupful of melted butter. In a baking dish put alternate layers of crumbs and finely cut rhubarb, adding more sugar if the fruit is thought to be very tart. Bake three quarters of an hour in a hot oven and serve with sweetened cream.

FORMER FT. WAYNE MAN PASSES AWAY

V. H. Rothschild Dies at His Home in New York —Relatives Here.

HAD LARGE HOLDINGS

Isador Lehman received news Thursday night of the death of his brother-in-law, Victor Henry Rothschild, of New York, who in 1853 was a resident of Fort Wayne. Mr. Rothschild died early Thursday morning at his residence, 4 East Sixty-seventh street, New York city.

The deceased was a brother of the late Nanette Heilbroner, of 236 West Main street, Fort Wayne, and an uncle of the following: Mrs. Isador Lehman, Mrs. Ida Rothschild, Miss Clara Heilbroner, Louis Heilbroner and Samuel Heilbroner. Mr. and Mrs. Lehman have gone to New York to attend the funeral. The following notice of the death of Mr. Rothschild appears in Thursday's New York Sun:

V. Henry Rothschild died early yesterday morning at his residence, 4 East Sixty-seventh street, this city. He was born in Wurtenberg, Germany, on April 6, 1835, and left his home in the Black Forest in 1852 to come to America. He first went to Fort Wayne, Ind., and started business on his own account with a small capital. In 1854 he went to Mount Carroll, Ill., where he later established a dry goods business in partnership with his brother-in-law.

At the outbreak of the civil war Mr. Rothschild came to New York and abandoned his western business. He founded V. Henry Rothschild & Co., and in 1892 had increased the business to such an extent as to make necessary the construction of one of the first modern office buildings in New York, at West Broadway and Leonard street, known as the Rothschild building. Mr. Rothschild established a large factory at Freehold, N. J., and another factory at Trenton, now employing more than 7,000 workers.

He was one of the founders of the Mount Sinai hospital and a director of the Montefiore home. Mr. Rothschild was also a founder of one of the first communal settlements favored by Baron de Hirsch. Mr. Rothschild built many modern houses for his employes and rented them at a nominal sum of from $6 to $7 a month.

Mr. Rothschild served at one time as a director of the Seventh National bank. He was one of the oldest members of the Philharmonic society.

He married Miss Josephine Wolfe in 1866 and leaves five children. V. Sidney Rothschild, a member of the New York Stock Exchange; Clarence G. Rothschild, a mining engineer, and three daughters, one the wife of S. R. Guggenheim, president of the Yukon Gold company; Constance Lily, who married Ira Nelson Morris, of Chicago, and Gertrude G. Rothschild.

WHY IT'S OSHKOSH.

The Wisconsin Town Took Its Name From an Indian Tribe.

"The name of our famous Wisconsin town, Oshkosh, is used in the jokes of the newspaper funny men, and has passed into our language," Richard A. Webster, of Wisconsin, remarked to a Washington Post reporter, "but we have something else to think about when Oshkosh is mentioned. Not only are we proud of the town and its people, but the origin of the name recalls the early history of the state. The region round about Oshkosh was originally owned by the Menominee tribe of Indians, and their great chief at the time of the settlement by the white men was named Oshkosh. That name has survived in several generations of the Menominee tribe, and the head of the present Menominee reservation in our state is Reginald Oshkosh. Gradually the Menominees became subdued and somewhat civilized. They are numerous enough now, and it is not generally known that they have large tracts of land in the state which are worth millions of dollars, because of the timber still standing. It is a fair estimate that the Menominee Indians have two billion feet of fine spruce on their reservaton, and it is much coveted by the white man. These Indians under Oshkosh are doing a great deal of farm work, and have progressed very well in recent years. The federal government has, of course, jurisdiction over the tribe, and when any lumber is taken off the reservation the money for it is put into the tribal fund that has been growing rapidly."

A TONGUE BRINGS WEALTH.

Revival of the Gaelic tongue is being paralleled by the revival of industrial strength in Ireland, according to the Rev. Michael O'Flanagan, delegate from the Gaelic League of Ireland, says the Chicago Tribune.

In an address before several hundred Gaelic revival enthusiasts in Orchestra hall the other night the visiting delegate told of the work that has been done toward the regeneration of Erin and the dire prospects in view if the labor of the league in Ireland is abandoned.

"If the language of the centuries of Irish supremacy is left to die," he said, "the nation, in a generation or two, will follow it to the grave. The influence of the league has latterly been directed toward the revival of industry, through the revival of the language, and the effect of this upon the Irish people has been wonderful. Many idle hands have been set to work and many idle brains have been set to thinking. The industrial spirit of the country is awakening with the revival of the tongue. Gaelic is now taught in three thousand schools in Ireland, and forty thousand people in the country speak it."

SOME RELIEF AT CHICAGO.

Chicago, May 19.—Some relief from the hot weather was experienced in Chicago today although the thermometer registered a temperature only a little below the season's high record of 92, attained yesterday. Clouds at intervals sheltered the city and there was a steady southwest wind of 20 to 30 miles velocity.

Reports of investigators today showed that the percentage of sickness among children in the poorer quarters of the city and county had jumped from the normal of 8 to nearly 60 per cent. Free ice was distributed by the county officials.

HEARS COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Presbyterian General Assembly Considers Recommendations.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 19.—The Presbyterian general assembly having organized yesterday by the election of Rev. Dr. John F. Carson, of Brooklyn, as moderator, the 800 commissioners were ready today to consider reports from special committees.

Among these reports is that of the committee on Christian life and work. The report states that the two-thirds of the presbyteries and synods have given attention to the recommendation of the last assembly that they appoint committees on inter-church federation. The report called attention to an investigation made by the secretary of the committee which shows that throughout the country, as a whole, the total number of non-church members is 60.9 per cent. It was also set forth in the report that the number of vacant Presbyterian churches has increased as between 1909 and 1910, from 1,886 to 2,157.

SUOW FALLING TODAY.

Washington, May 19.—Snow fell this morning in Yellowstone park and freezing weather was reported in Wyoming and Nevada, while the middle and eastern states sweltered in the hottest weather of the year. A general break in the hot wave was predicted by the weather experts here today within the next 36 or 48 hours. Warm weather will continue tonight and Saturday in the eastern states.

Considerably cooler weather prevails generally over the eastern slope of the Rocky mountains and plateau region, caused by a disturbance moving eastward from the North Pacific coast.

BAD FIELDING AND POOR BASE RUNNING AIDED IN THE DEFEAT

Young Failed to Back Up and Vandagrift Was Caught at Second After He Had Singled to Right in the Sixth Inning.

While Charlie Alberts had the proverbial March hare running a bad second in the first inning of the Thursday clash with the chesty Potters, and his bit of untamed hurling was largely responsible for the 5-to-7 defeat encountered by the home troupe, there were two bits of play in the course of the conflict that went a long way toward holding Fort Wayne at the tail end of the procession.

The first of these occurred when Alexander Reilly sent one of Albert's shoots crashing into right center in the fifth. It was really Young's ball, but Blount has been covering most of his territory, while an injured ankle is being cured up, and he made a noble try for the fly and got his finger tips on it, but didn't hold it.

Instead of backing up the catch and being prepared to field the ball in case it got away from Blount, Young loped out in front of the play and when the ball rolled up the right field embankment the runner got to third and a run scored before it was finally retrieved. Two men were down at the time and the hit, with heady fielding, should have gone for one base and the runner should have been held at third.

Another element that helped Zanesville to win was when Vandagrift tried for second with two down in the sixth, after he had hit to right and sent Blount to third. When the ball was thrown to third Vandagrift tried for another base and was nipped at second. The throw was a short one and the safe play would have been to hang at first, where he had a good chance to steal with a man on third, or he might have placed some dependence in the fact that the most consistent batter on the team followed him.

It rained right up to the time the game started and there was talk of postponement, but the thought of playing two games and catching a train for Evansville all in one afternoon was a bit too much, and the battle was started in a drizzle that lasted only a short time.

Alberts opened by passing Wratten, who was advanced on Ned Crowder's sacrifice. Bill Hillinger hit to center and scored the run, and Joe Connolly followed with a triple to left center that might have been handled if the outfield had been back where it ought to have been with Connolly at the plate. Another pass to Kahl, a sacrifice fly, a pass to Swartling and Welch's drive to left netted four runs in the round and gave the home club a handicap that it could not overcome.

Connolly's muff of McLafferty's fly in the second paved the way for a couple of runs that came over after Rogers failed to retire a runner on Casey's bunt and Ned Crowder worked a two-base throw out of his right arm. Justice hit to right in the inning and sent in the manager with the second run.

The locals made a hard fight, but could not get over the winning run, although a brave fight was made in the last inning.

Alberts passed eight men during the game and four scored.

Cleary had the worst day since he has been here. He was badly off on balls and strikes.

Keener robbed Rogers of a triple in the first when he stuck up his glove and intercepted a drive routed for the fence.

When Reilly got on with two down in the ninth Raidy told Onslow he would show him up. He sent the speedy outfielder down and Onslow nailed him a foot. Swartling got the only stolen base with a man on third, and no attempt was made to play on him.

Blount and Justice split up the batting honors. The pair got six of the eleven hits.

Rogers had a confusing crossfire that he used to good advantage on the left-handed batters.

CASEY HAS MADE SHOWING

DR. JAMES CASEY.

Dr. James Casey has played his first home series as manager of the Fort Wayne team and local fandom has had an opportunity to size up the pilot of Claude Varnell's squad for the season of 1911. The most surprising thing the manager has done since he returned is to show that he has a batting eye that will have to be reckoned with around the circuit. He has played in fourteen games on the home lot and has an average for the series of .358.

Nobody ever doubted his ability as a manager, but patrons frequently raised the question of his ability to play third base up to the Central league standard. He has shown he can do this all right and, although he is reserved in his methods and general demeanor, he knows how to manage a baseball club and get the best results.

Taken as a whole the home series has been very satisfactory. The club has worked under severe handicaps and is still crippled because Young can't field his position, but there is little fault to find. Manager Casey's methods differ from those of Jimmy Burke. The doctor stays on the bench and directs his club from there and leaves the coaching line to Bill Bailey and one of his assistants, but there will be no kick on this if he can win as consistently all season as he has thus far.

FROM THE BOX SCORES

Del Ganor got two hits in the Detroit game against Philadelphia with Plank in the box. One of the hits was a homer. George Mullin pitched and the Tigers won, 9 to 4.

Three singles and a double in the seventh inning of the game at New York sent Christy Mathewson flying from the box and neither Marquard or Raymond was able to stop the Pirates. Babe Adams pitched steadily all the way.

Bert Shotten, who couldn't hit in the Central league, is managing to hold his own in the American league and in the game with the Browns he got two hits.

Burch drove Hummel home twice in the game at Brooklyn and won the game from Cincinnati. Stark is still at short and got one hit.

Washington had six errors behind Tom Hughes and Cleveland had little trouble winning, 6 to 9.

Chicago won from Boston and held the second place in the American league standing, nine games behind Detroit.

Jimmy Burke almost won a game. He had it up to the ninth when some heavy hitting by Kansas City scored two runs and won the battle.

NOTES OF THE SHAMROCKS

The Pennsylvania employes are organizing a rooters' club for the game against the Shamrocks at League park Sunday afternoon.

Umpire—Cook, who will officiate in the championship series, has been ill, but got back to work today and will be in shape for the next game.

Meyers, playing in the outfield for the Pennsylvanias, will get a chance in the Michigan State league next spring.

Jack Smith's sore finger has healed, and he will be in the game giving Captain Walda his regular line-up, which includes Carl Centilivre.

Manager Cleary says conditions are right for his team to make a good showing the remainder of the season.

CATCHER BUYS A BLOCK OF STOCK

Catcher Becomes Interested in the Grand Rapids Ball Club.

CONTRACTS ARE LET

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 19.—Dr. Harley Parker has announced that Catcher Harry Martin, whose release was purchased from the Pittsburg team of the National league, has purchased an interest in the Grand Rapids team and becomes one of its directors. The deal was made last night after a conference between team owner and player, in which Martin expressed a desire to buy a goodly block of the club stock before work on the new downtown park is started.

That the new park just south of the city market will be in readiness for play on June 21 when the Zanesville Potters open here is another promise made by Dr. Parker. He states that the contract for the building of the grandstand and bleachers in the new park will call for their completion inside the time named, as well as the leveling off of the grounds. He expects a force of close to fifty men to be employed that the work may be completed in time.

President Carson will look over the new downtown park site today and is expected to offer some suggestions which will be of mutual advantage to the league and the Grand Rapids club. He expresses himself as convinced that Grand Rapids will lead the league in attendance with a centrally located park for the playing of week-day games. After tomorrow's games the Grand Rapids team goes on the road for four-game series at Zanesville and Wheeling, returning for a six-contest series with South Bend with Memorial day included, five league games and one exhibition game, one being transferred here on account of the board of trade celebration on June 1.

ROUTED BY THE CUBS

EARL MOORE.

Earl Moore was chased from the game at Philadelphia by a fierce onslaught of the Cubs and before the battle was over the champs had secured eleven runs and broke the Quaker winning streak.

LITTLE BITS OF SPORT CHATTER

Pat Lindsay's failure to win his games is attributed to a sore arm that was strained on his first trip this season.

Kansas City and St. Paul refused to waive on Nick Altrock and both teams are fighting for his services.

"Jiggs" Donahue has closed a deal whereby he becomes manager and part owner of the baseball team at Cleburne, Texas.

Bates, of Terre Haute, is batting .373 and leading the club. His fielding record would be about .073 if showed all he failed to get.

Dr. Carson has not announced whether or not the fine of $100 against Grant for delaying the game at South Bend Wednesday will stick or not. The players drew $40 in fines for dilatory tactics.

Fred Parent, the famous old shortstop of the Boston world's champions, has come to terms with Manager Jack Dunn, of the Baltimore club, and joined the Orioles at Rochester, N. Y.

Willis Humphreys, who has been ill, will join the Wheeling pitching staff in a short time and the club has bought McKenzie, of Youngstown, and Fairbanks, of Utica, N. Y.

Dr. Carson has advised the Zanesville club to make a fight for the services of Groh, the second baseman claimed by the Springfield, Ill., club. The player was released, it is claimed, by mistake.

Joe Sugden signed to manage the Newcastle, Pa., club just as a joke, but found the owner was in dead earnest about it and as he refused to sell or release the veteran backstop he had to report and get to work.

Tom McCarey, manager of the Pacific Athletic club of Los Angeles, said yesterday that he was assured that articles would be soon signed between Wolgast and McFarland, and that the fight would take place on Labor day as scheduled.

Devlin and Bridwell of the Giants, are leading all the third basemen and shortstops of the National league in fielding, with Lobert and Doolan, of the Phillies, second. Larry Doyle is second to Hummell, of Brooklyn, among the second basemen.

June 6 has been settled as the date for the fight between Billy Papke and Jim Sullivan, the British middleweight champion. Hugh McIntosh landed the bout, which is for $10,000 and a side bet of $5,000. Eugene Corri will be the third man in the ring.

Briscoe Lord does duty in the left for the Philadelphia team when there is a left-hander on the slab, and Amos Strunk goes to the field when a right-hander performs. Some neat figuring on the part of Connie Mack to get his full batting strength.

The Phillies' squad will be reduced to the league limit. At present there are 28 men in the Dooin camp. The squad must be cut down to 26, which includes Manager Dooin. Each club is allowed 25 players and a manager. Pitcher Baxter is likely to be sent to the Wilmington Tri-State team. Outfielder Mowery will also be farmed out.

NEW RECORD FOR GAMES AT HOME

Not One of the Series Has Been Postponed by Rain Man.

OFF FOR EVANSVILLE

Unless the rain man cuts in with a hower here during the afternoon, Fort Wayne will leave for Evansville tonight after having established a new Central league record, in that not one game of the first home series has been postponed on account of rain or for any other cause.

This is more remarkable from the fact that the series consisted of sixteen games, four more than the usual allotment on the first stop at the home lot. There has not been since the organization of the Central league seven years ago, a single instance in which at least one game was postponed on the first round of the clubs to this city.

Up to today Fort Wayne had played fifteen and had won ten of them, for a percentage of .667, which is a better gait than is usually required to win the pennant. With the exception of Zanesville all of the clubs that have played here are second division propositions but Fort Wayne has not been able at any time to put the full playing strength in the field.

On the present trip two second and one first-division team will be met and a dozen battles will be fought, including four each at Evansville, Terre Haute and Dayton. After closing at Dayton the club will be here four days and will then take a swing around the north end of the circuit.

The attendance at the home games indicates that Owner Claude H. Varnell stands very much in the same light here as Charlie Comiskey does at Chicago. He has demonstrated that he is always ready to buy just as good talent as the market affords for class B ball and that he is after a winning club al lthe time.

Another pleasing feature of the home trip is that there have been no developments to show that any of the players need watching to keep them in the straight and narrow. There have been no breaches of discipline and the men seem to be taking excellent care of themselves.

Fifteen men will be taken on the trip. The list includes Catchers Onslow and Bailey; Pitchers Corns, Alberts, Harden, Smith and Whittaker; Infielders McLafferty, Vandagrift, Justice and Casey; Outfielders Keener, Blount and Young, and Bullock, utility man.

With three exceptions of the pitching staff, the club is satisfactory, and every effort is being made to strengthen that. The big leagues wil lhave to cut to twenty-five men by the first of June and then some pitchers may be available.

Last Saturday night telegrams were sent out by Owner Varnell and Manager Casey to twenty managers, most of them intimate friends of the Fort Wayne manager, asking for pitchers, and no results were obtained.

When Mr. Varnell left here this week he announced that he would go out on a scouting trip himself in event the club fails to land pitchers by other means. He will take a whirl through the majors in an effort to land the two hurlers necessary to round out the staff.

STOGIES FAILED TO HOLD LEAD

Wheeling Beaten in the Third Game of Dayton Engagement.

GRANT WINS A GAME

That same old hoodoo that has been working steadily on Roy Montgomery and his Stogie outfit, was there in the third game of the Dayton series, which went to the Vets after Wheeling had accumulated a lead of two runs.

Montgomery's team is up and going all the time and he keeps his men keyed right to the minute, but they are not strong in the finishes, and to this is due the disasters that have been encountered on the road.

In every game played in Fort Wayne the Stogies got off in front and every time they were overtaken and beaten. Montgomery will have to get a new pitcher or two if he expects to make a showing in the race. Doak is his best bet and he has not been particularly hard to hit so far this season.

Servatius peeled off a three-base hit in the fourth inning of the Thursday matinee and Knisely followed with a home run and things went well until the sixth, when Kronau was battered out of the box and Beatty was treated to some rough treatment after he took the mound.

Aggie Grant had the pleasure of trimming the South Bend outfit after he had had a run-in with the umpire the day before in which he and his teammates were fined heavily and the game against them forfeited to South Bend. Sterzer and Tieman, the only left-handed battery, worked for the winners and the Hoohoos won by bunching hits in the eighth. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Dayton	10	10	1
Wheeling	2	9	3

Batteries—Compton and Konnick; Kronau, Beatty and Murray.

	R.	H.	E.
Evansville	2	5	0
South Bend	1	7	0

Batteries—Sterzer and Tieman; Martin and Holmes.

Witness Says Conservation Policy Helps Lumber Trust.

WARM VERBAL CLASH

Washington, May 19.—Following a heated colloquy between Senator LaFollette and Leonard Bronson, of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association at today's Canadian reciprocity hearing, a declaration by Bronson that the conservation policy of Theodore Roosevelt and Gifford Pinchot worked for the benefit of the lumber trust and forced up the prices of lumber was stricken from the record. Bronson had also declared that the withdrawal by the government of a large tract of timber lands was the chief cause of high prices of lumber.

Senator LaFollette demanded to know what authority Mr. Bronson had for these assertions.

This Mr. Bronson refused to explain and after a series of questions by Senator LaFollette both the assertions and the ensuing colloquy were expunged on motion of the senator.

C. H. Potter, of Elgin, Ill., representing the Milk Producers' Association of Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin, opposed the bill on the ground that the United States still needs protection.

The "sugar trust" investigating committee of the house today fixed June 1, as the date to begin the inquiry into the affairs of the American Sugar Refining company and other refiners.

ALLOW RAILROADS GRADES OF FARE

May Charge More for Inter-State Than for Intra-State Traffic.

IT AFFECTS INDIANA

Washington, May 19.—Railways operating in Central Passenger association territory—including the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan—are permitted by an order issued today by the interstate commerce commission to exact higher passenger fares for interstate than for intra-state business where state legislatures or state commissions have established a two-cent a mile rate.

The carriers in such instances are forced by state railroad commissions or by state legislatures to apply on all intra-state passenger business a maximum fare of two cents a mile. This would result through the application of the long and short haul provision of the law in a maximum rate of two cents a mile throughout the territory.

In the hearing before the commission the railways declared their intention to test before the courts the validity of the two cent a mile restriction in fares on intra-state business. At present there is no distinction between interstate and intra-state passenger business.

The commission expresses the opinion that the present condition of charging one rate a mile for interstate traffic and a higher rate a mile for intra-state, when the service performed is the same in both cases, is indefensible.

"Intra-state and interstate passengers are carried on the same train of the same cars and are accorded equal privileges. It seems clear that eventually there must be established an actual distinction between the two services or a correction of the two scales of fares to an equality."

In the territory indicated, intra-state fares are on a two cent basis, while interstate fares are made on a scale of two and one-half cents a mile. The commission says that no proof was offered of the insufficiency of the two cent rate to yield a fair return to the carriers, but that the carriers had asked for time in which to prepare the necessary data.

The commission permits the carriers, therefore, to exact the higher rate until May 1, 1912.

The commission denied the request of the carriers to adjust their charges in multiples of five in order to avoid the use of odd pennies in change.

SENTENCE FOR KIDNAPING.

Chicago, May 19.—George Kimes, a marine fireman, who was charged with kidnaping the 4-months-old son of Mrs. Selma Henks, was today found guilty and sentenced to twelve years in the penitentiary. The infant is still missing and is believed by the police to have been cremated in the furnace of a lake steamer, or thrown overboard and drowned, between here and South Haven, Mich. Kimes is alleged to have been enamored with the child's mother and at the same time to have developed a remarkable antipathy to her offspring.

BILL PASSES IN RUSH.

Springfield, Ill., May 19.—In the rush of work this, the last day of the present session, Representative Church's bill, which prohibits publication of detailed statements or descriptions of crimes and execution of criminals, passed the senate without being noticed. The bill was called up and without waiting for an explanation, the presiding officer ordered the roll called and the bill went through by a vote of 29 to 0. The bill had already passed the house.

AT THE FAIRY THEATER.

Great Character Study of Count Leo Tolstoi Is Shown.

At the Fairy theater tomorrow a remarkable and interesting film will be shown, embracing a character study of the most eminent intellecutal genius Russia has produced and one of the great figures of all time. The recent death of the great writer, philosopher and reformer adds interest to this picture story of his daily life. You almost live with him: see him with his family; in his garden; on his horse; among his people; giving alms; on the train; taking his daily walk; at work on his books; cutting lumber, and in scores of other activities. It is an education on Tolstoi to see this picture.

AERIAL FAIRIES.

Artists Who Run, Walk and Dance in Midair With Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows.

Of the many features that go to make up the thrilling mid-air circus of the Hagenbeck-Wallace shows which exhibit here May 30, are many European performers who will be seen for the first time in America. There are several groups, composed of artists of great ability as equilibrists, who, without the aid of huge balancing poles, cavort upon a wire stretched many feet from the ground. These clever performers have been fittingly called sprites of the air, for the field of their operation is on a slender and almost invisible cable, stretched at the highest point under the dome of the tent. On this strand, with a sang froid beyond conception, they indulge in exploits that are the marvel of adults of similar calling and feats that would be remarkable were they accomplished on the ground. They verily seem to run, walk and dance in the air. They skip rope on their lofty perches and, with childish nonchalance, form human wheelbarrows; walk two abreast on the narrow paths; form human pillars with feet to shoulders two high, leaping to and from these positions; throw somersaults from feet to feet and interpret a cake walk in perfect time with the music of the band. Their performances are concluded with thrilling single and double somersaulting dives to a receiving net below. Among other mid-air performers are several high horizontal bar experts. These dexterious athletes accomplish terrific and treacherous tricks of long leaps, conjunctive giant swings, far and fearless flyovers, daring dives and single and double somersaults through space. There are other gymnasts whose fearful falls to an elastic net and rebounds to high bars above are original tricks that are most interesting to witness. These are but a few of the many features going to make up the thrilling mid-air circus presented by these great shows.

Besides these, three hundred arenic champions of every class participate in the circus programs. They have been recruited, in the main from continental circuses. The trained wild beast performances will be given in large steel arenas and intermingled with the circus acts in such a manner as to give pleasing novelty to the programs. In the various wild animal performances several sensational new acts have been introduced. The parade of the morning, with its representatives of different countries, brilliant array of colors, variety of beasts, gorgeousness of floats and chariots, and spectacular display, presents a vista of unheard-of splendor.

A NEW DANGER TO MILLINERY.

A new danger to women's hats was discovered when a horse tried to eat the trimming on one spring creation, causing a great deal of embarrassment to the wearer. It was aboard a Long Island railroad ferryboat, and the boat was crowded, the New York Herald says. Talking with friends forward was a well dressed young woman, whose hat was of the latest style, trimmed with something resembling ribbon grass.

A horse saw the hat trimming as it swayed in front of his nostrils, sniffed a bit, and then craned his neck to get nearer. Then he suddenly nibbled the material he thought was grass and held it firmly in his jaws.

Greatly frightened, the woman did not move, but uttered a few shrieks, which brought several men to her side. They were cruel enough to laugh. Drivers gathered around the horse and tried vainly to coax him to release the trimming. Others squeezed his nostrils, but the horse paid no attention. Finally a garden truck vender placed a bunch of carrots in front of the horse and the trick was done. He opened his jaws for the tempting vegetables and the imprisoned trimming was liberated.

PAUL REVERE, HERO'S DESCENDANT, SEEKS WEST POINT TO BE SOLDIER

Eight Years Old, Scion of Revolutionary Messenger Is Ambitious for Fame—Already Is Captain of Flatbush Nine—Regularly "Defeats" Brother Albert, Who Refuses Any Longer to "Be British."

New York, May 17.—Bearing all the traits of character that made for his ancestor, more than a century and a half ago, a name that will echo throughout the United States as long as revolutionary history exists, young Paul Revere has announced his intention of studying at West Point, that he, too, may accomplish that for which men have found a place in the Hall of Fame.

Paul is the eldest of the two children of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Revere, of No. 607 East Thirty-fourth street, Flatbush. He is a direct lineal descendant of the famous historical character of the battles of Concord and Lexington, and represents the seventh generation to carry that name. In order that there might never be a suffix of junior to the name, every Paul in the family, with but this exception, has been a son of George Revere.

Fortunately, in every generation there has been at least three boys, so that there has never been an occasion when the name might be dropped from the family roster. Nor has there ever been a Paul Revere, jr.

Baseball Captain at Eight.

Although he is but eight years of age, this youngster has shown marked ability both as an athlete and a scholar. He has attended school less than a year, yet he has been advanced four different times to higher grades. He is captain of the Newkirk baseball team and, as he proudly announces, is the best pitcher in the whole section.

"What do you do rainy days?" Paul was asked.

"Oh, we play soldier in the war. Alfred has to be the British. But he says he won't be the British. He wants to be Paul Revere. He can't though, 'cause I'm Paul Revere and there can't be more than one in a family. So, if he feels that way about it, I guess we can't play soldier any more. He says that the Americans always win and he won't lose any more. So if he's going to fight about it—" Paul doesn't like music except when mother plays and sings, for, according to this sturdy, brown-eyed youngster, it is only girls who play the piano. Paul is a thorough boy, hates girls and expects some day to be captain of the Erasmus Hall football team.

NO LONGER SAY "BY GOSH!"

(New York Sun.)

At the anniversary festival of the Royal General Theatrical Fund, J. L. Griffiths, United States consul general, spoke a word of appeal for some improvements in the drama. He would like, he said, to see a play in which there was a really spiritual clergyman, an honest barrister, a straightforward diplomatist and an American gentleman. Mr. Griffiths' views have been generally indorsed by the press.

It is acknowledged that diplomatists are presented on the stage too consistently as creatures of preternatural cunning, never as men with human limitations. The popular dramatic type of clergyman, the muscular, is more tiring still; every curate is not the physical equal of a prizefighter. An American gentleman would be very welcome on the English stage. The type almost invariably presented is like nothing on earth. He is neither a gentleman nor an American. It is true he no longer ejaculates "By gosh!" or 'I calculate," but he continues to be a caricature, and a bad caricature at that.

THE OLD BIBLE.

We are just old-fashioned enough to take no stock in the modernized Bible which is shortly to appear, "couched in everyday language, with obsolete words and phrases eliminated." The King James Bible has done more to preserve the good old Saxon words and style, which are the best English literature has produced, than anything else. Instead of a movement to get us farther away from that vigorous, simple, classic style, and in the interest of establishing the finest literary ideals possible to a people destined to use the curious hybrid which the English language has become, it would be more sensible to frown upon all efforts to improve on the King James Bible. It is the greatest treasure house, inspiration, inspiration of good English that we possess.—Success.

THE SHOP AND RAIL NEWS

TO REVISE ITS CONSTITUTION

Electric Relief Union Will Put Bars Against Railroaders.

THE B. L. F. & E. DISTRICT MEETING

Committee on Arrangement Says 400 Men Will Be in Attendance.

The Relief union of the Fort Wayne Electric works will revise its constitution and by-laws. The executive committee held a meeting last night to look into the general conditions of the union with that object in view. In the association there are a number of members who, when admitted, were employed at the works, but who have since taken up train work on the railroads and have retained their membership, enjoying all the privileges--including a weekly sick or accident benefit of $5 and death benefit of $100—for the insignificant outlay of twenty-five cents per month. The executive committee believes this an injustice to the other members of the union and proposes to eliminate this feature and put a bar against members engaging in railway or other hazardous occupation. There are some other features that need elimination or correction also and these will figure in the report of the committee to the union. The personnel of the executive committee is as follows: Chairman, J. J. Bauer; secretary, E. K. Allen; financial secretary, A. L. Buchelt; treasurer, J. H. Evans, and Charles Brenner and Clark Orr. The union has a fund of over $1,000, but some recent heavy drains have been made upon it, for awhile the sick benefit disbursements amounting to about $100 per month.

SITUATION UNCHANGED.

"There is absolutely nothing new in the strike situation at Allegheny and Conway so far as I have been advised," said a Pennsylvania man this morning. "In the absence of news, I take it for granted that the condition is unchanged." Concerning the situation on the Pennsylvania lines east of Pittsburg, the Post said yesterday: "The strike developments are unimportant. The Pennsylvania railroad people announced that they had more men than they needed and had stopped employing men. Yesterday was the date fixed at most of the car shops on which employes were to consider themselves discharged if they had not returned to work. The railroad people claim to have 45 per cent of their old employes back at work. At 4 o'clock in the morning there was a parade of strikers in Pitcairn, the men claiming it was necessary to resort to this method to prevent the foremen of the shops from succeeding in efforts they are alleged to be making to persuade old men to go back to work. The railroad people deny that such efforts are being made."

WORKING HOURS INCREASED.

A temporary increase in the number of working hours was inaugurated at the Wabash shops yesterday. All departments are working nine hours today and will work eight hours tomorrow. Tomorrow the Wabash and the Western Gas shop league teams play ball at the Van Buren street play grounds and some of the shopmen who had in mind rooting for their team will have to forego that pleasure. All of the players will be allowed to lay off, of course. The shop force received some additions this morning, among the new men being Boilermakers William McShay and James R. Cropp, Blacksmith Frank Miller and Machinist Edgar Cripe.

BUSY WITH ARRANGEMENTS.

The committee which has in hand the arrangements for the big district meeting of the B. L. F. & E., to be held in Fort Wayne Thursday, June 1, under the auspices of A. G. Porter lodge, No. 141, report that between 300 and 400 brotherhood firemen will be in attendance at the business session. The committee has the assurance that some of the grand officers will be here to attend the big meeting at Library hall, but have not yet been advised who will come. In the evening the brotherhood men will be joined by the ladies in a banquet and a dance at the hall over Dehm's store.

ORDERED MORE CARS.

Interest in the Nickel Plate's weekend excursion to Cleveland presages a large crowd out of Fort Wayne tomorrow, on both the special train at 7 o'clock in the morning and on the regular train at 3:05 in the afternoon. This is the first $2 excursion to Cleveland this year and it is an experiment in its way, being the first to be given so early in the season. The original request for cars has been augmented and Passenger Agent F. P. Parnin says that there will be a comfortable seat for every one. He will accompany the excursion party in the morning.

SOLDIERS GOING EAST.

A troop of United States soldiers will pass through the city, over the Wabash, some time tomorrow, en route from the barracks at Leavenworth, Kansas, to the east. They travel by special train, which will be delivered to the Wabash at St. Louis at 9 o'clock this evening. The latter will deliver the train to the Nickel Plate at New Haven and in turn be delivered to the West Shore at Buffalo, to be taken to the destination of the troops. These soldiers were due here two or three days ago, but were late in getting started.

TAKING OUT MORE BOILERS.

The work of dismantling the two remaining boilers in the Pennsylvania power station began this morning, to make room for the four improved water tube boilers now being installed. There were six of the old tubular boilers in the plant, four of them having been taken out some weeks ago. Five locomotives are furnishing steam for the shops while the work of rebuilding the boiler plant is in progress.

RETURNS TO HIS TRADE.

After five or six years' employment as a patternmaker at the Bass Foundry and Machine works, William Greable has resigned and resumed his old trade—that of house building—with one of the well known contractors of the city. He expects to reenter the Bass pattern shop when the house building season closes next fall, however.

INAUGURATE DETROIT SERVICE.

The Wabash announces that it will inaugurate the summer excursion service to Detroit May 28, when it will begin selling tickets on Sundays for trains at 5:35 and 9:47 a. m., good returning up to and including the train which leaves Detroit at 12 o'clock Monday night.

DROPPED OUT A CREW.

Yesterday the Pennsylvania dropped out of service one of the switching crews at the east yards. Four men were affected by the reduction. This is the result of a falling off in the freight traffic on the line.

WILL LIVE IN MINNESOTA

A. R. Scheeler, for the past year employed as a helper in the Pennsylvania boiler shop, has resigned. He has made arrangements to take charge of a farm in Minnesota and will move to that city at once.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Fireman W. R. Wells, of the Pennsylvania, is sick and off duty.

A. Stege and Nicholas Miller, Pennsylvania shopmen, are sick and off duty.

Mr. Watts, a representative of the C. H. & D. company, inspected 350 car wheels at the Bass foundry today.

Paymaster Samuel Francisco, of the Wabash, distributed pay checks among the employes in Fort Wayne today.

The steam derrick, a part of the Pennsylvania wreck train, is in the shops for repairs to machinery and boilers.

J. Beckman, a pipefitter at the Pennsylvania round house, reported for work last night, after an illness of a week or two.

D. Arthur resigned as a flue welder at the Pennsylvania shops yesterday and took employment at the Corrugated Paper works.

Charles Young, assistant shop clerk at the Panhandle shops, in Columbus, is here on business with the motive power department of the Pennsylvania.

J. Parker, of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, had a foot bruised yesterday when a pedestal fell upon the member. He is off duty for a few days as a result of the accident.

Henry Briggs, foreman of the lumber yards of the Wabash at Decatur, Ill., and Cy Swank, a mill man from Wabash, were in the city today on business with the local Wabash officials.

J. A. Colchin, who sprained his foot while at work at the Pennsylvania shops some days ago, appeared there on crutches today to say that he was getting along nicely and would be ready for work soon.

Arthur W. Tiddy, traveling passenger agent of the Baltimore and Ohio road, died at Pittsburg Wednesday, after a short illness. He was forty-seven years old and had been connected with the passenger department of the B. & O. for twenty years.

Jacob Waldschmidt was taken home from the Lutheran hospital yesterday. He was operated upon for appendicitis several days ago and is getting along in a satisfactory manner. Mr. Waldschmidt operates one of the wood working machines in the Pennsylvania planing mills.

J. Malone and R. E. McNally, Wabash yard conductors, and two of the most enthusiastic base ball "fans" of the country, will go to Detroit tomorrow morning to witness the ball game between the Detroits and the Philadelphias.

WAR DID NOT DIM ROMANCE.

Shellman Heights, the most famous colonial mansion in Georgia, which was saved by Gen. W. T. Sherman when he was marching through Georgia, because he loved its mistress when he was a cadet, burned the other day.

Mrs. William Shellman, mistress of the mansion, was Miss Cecelia Stovall before marriage, and as a girl spent her summers at West Point. She was rarely beautiful, and W. T. Sherman and J. W. Hooker, who were cadets at the time, fell in love with her and tried to marry her, but she rejected them for a southern man. During the war General Sherman and General Hooker led their troops through this section of Georgia. Upon approaching Shellman Heights the soldiers of General Sherman started to ransack the mansion, whereupon a negro servant said: "Oh, Lord! What's Miss Cecelia gwine to do now?"

General Sherman asked the negro for the rest of the name of his mistress, and he replied: "Miss Cecelia Stovall Shellman."

"Why, she's my old sweetheart," the general exclaimed, and he ordered the soldiers to replace what they had taken, and placed a guard about the home. General Hooker passed later, and upon ascertaining who the mistress was, issued similar orders.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

IMMIGRANT HERE WITH $26,000, WIFE AND FOURTEEN CHILDREN

Schneider, German Lutheran from Russia, Plans to Farm in North Dakota—Dazzles Ellis Island Officials With Cash—Stork May Beat the Family in the Journey to New Home.

FREDERICK SCHNEIDER, WIFE AND FOURTEEN CHILDREN.

New York, May 19.—With a wife, fourteen children and $26,000 in real money, the wealthiest immigrant ever passed through the gates of Ellis Island, Frederick Schneider is today speeding westward en route to Glen Ullen, N. D., where he has purchased a large tract of farming land. The Schneiders arrived in the steamship George Washington and were by far the most interesting passengers booked in the second cabin. While large families have been rather frequent of late at Ellis Island, the Schneiders hold the record.

Though "Pa" Schneider is fifty and his wife forty-eight, neither looks their years, both being very youthful in appearance, and they had to "show" the officials before the latter were convinced. But this surprise was nothing compared to the answer to the question, "How much money have you?"

With a grin "Pa" Schneider went south into a capacious trouser pocket and laid on the desk a roll of bills of large denominations—close to $5,000.

While the examiner was counting it "Pa" Schneider tapped another pocket and went the first amount several thousand to the better. From an inside pocket came forth another big roll.

"For the love of Mike, can you beat it?" said the dazed inspector as his fellows crowded about, gazing first on the big family and then on the wads of greenbacks, hundreds, five hundreds and several one thousand dollar bills. Drafts and money orders were displayed bringing the total up to $26,000.

Sold Russian Farm.

Schneider explained that he had sold several acres of land in the province of Garsonski, near Odessa, Russia, and that the proceeds were the greater part of his $26,000. His son Christian, who came to this country a year ago and settled in North Dakota, had told his parents of this land of golden promise and "Pa" Schneider lost no time in settling up his affairs and starting for America.

The couple have been married for twenty-eight years and the children range from two to twenty-three years, while the stork is expected shortly to appear with the sixteenth baby. Schneider paid $1,800 for his steamship and railroad fares from Odessa to his destination in North Dakota, and left over the Lehigh Valley for his new home. He has a brother who was in the Russian army and fought in the Japanese war, is a Lutheran and speaks German as well as Russian.

SHOOTING COSTS MONEY.

The Kansas Battleship Valued Higher Than All the State's Colleges.

The battleship Kansas, says the Kansas Industrialist cost slightly more than $7,000,000. The colleges and the university of the state for which this ship was named cost about $6,000,000. Something in this to think about. Charles F. Thwing, president of the Western Reserve university, speaking along these lines, recently, in an address to the third national peace congress in Baltimore, said:

"The annual cost of maintaining a battleship is from $740,000 to $960,000. The number of universities whose annual budget exceeds these amounts can be numbered on your fingers. When one takes into view the depreciation of an armored cruiser or battleship, it is safe to say that it costs more to maintain a battleship for a year than to maintain Yale college for a year, and several times what it costs to maintain a college like Amherst or Williams."

President Thwing said that the value of the grounds of 500 colleges and universities in this country was estimated at $67,000,000; of the buildings, $219,000,000, and of the productive funds, $260,000,000. The cost of thirty-eight battleships which he named was, he said, $230,551,438. The cost of maintaining these during 1910, he said, was in excess of $24,000,000. The entire income of all the colleges in the United States during 1909 was, he said, about $25,000,000.

"In other words," he said, "when one takes into view the depreciation of the battleship or armored cruiser, the entire cost of the thirty-eight battleships for a single year is greater than the administration of the entire American system of higher education.

"The money which is thus wasted on naval armament would put the cause of the higher education of America upon a most efficient basis."

THE DESPAIR OF THE DEAF.

Lips of an Actor Who Poses In Profile Can't Be Read.

(New York Sun.)

"Time and again we're asked to have our actors face the audience squarely when speaking lines that are of great importance," a theatrical manager said recently. "The explanation for this request is generally the same, that deaf people in the audience who depend on lip reading rather than hearing lose the run of the play if some important lines are spoken by a person whose lips can't be read. An actor or actress who's stuck on posing in profile is always the despair of the deaf people in the audience, as they say it's almost impossible to read lips in profile. Our ticket agent hears another side of the same question. People tell him when buying tickets that someone in the party is stone deaf and must read the lips of the actors in order to follow the play. Then they ask him on which side of the theater these particular seats should be located to make this lip reading the most satisfactory. Often the stage setting decides which way the actors must face, and if a deaf person gets on the wrong side of the house the play is practically lost."

DIABETES

From late figures the hope of recovery under the new emollient treatment seems to be about as follows:

In people of sixty and over results are quite uniform, probably nine-tenths recovering. While at fifty and over a large majority of all cases yield to the treatment, below fifty and approaching forty the disease gets more stubborn, and between thirty and forty the percentage is not high—probably not much over half yielding.

Under thirty the percentage is less and in children recoveries have been very few and most of those were obtained with the aid of skilled physicians forcing nutrition, with alkaline treatment to prevent formation of acetones.

The new emollient treatment is known as Fulton's Diabetic Compound. It can be had in Fort Wayne at the D. & N. Pharmacy, 624 Calhoun St.

We desire every patient to write us who is not noting the usual improvement by the third week. Always state age. Literature mailed free. Jno. J. Fulton Co., 645 Battery St., San Francisco, Cal. We invite correspondence with physicians who have obstinate cases.

WHY STUFF OUR GUESTS?

We Cannot Delight in Intellect Without First Assailing Digestion.

(Boston Advertiser.)

J. Pierpont Morgan has done much for art and much for finance. And now, by a cry of revolt uttered in Paris, he has done much for overfed and gastronomically oppressed mankind—particularly oppressed public men. As a correspondent, who had not succeeded in gaining any interview of importance, turned to go, he overheard Mr. Morgan say to a friend who was in the room:

"Yes, a game of bridge or anything you like; only, for heaven's sake, don't give me anything more to eat—no banquets and no course dinners. I am sick and tired of this eternal eating."

Mr. Morgan has struck a real note. It is the American way, and it is the way of all the polite and prosperous world, to force food and liquid down the throat of every public and quasi public man, as the foremost, indispensable, inevitable means of entertainment. Why must we stuff our guests? Why can we not delight in a man's intellect without first assailing his digestion? To some, food is a necessity; to others it is a luxury. To still others it is a penance. Most men like moderate dining.

He Set Free the Bone of Contention and Stopped a Fight.

(Youth's Companion.)

A shepherd of the English downs, who had a curiously tender feeling for the little wild birds, told to Mr. W. H. Hudson an amusing incident of his boyhood, which Mr. Hudson records in "A Shepherd's Life." He was out on the down one summer day in charge of his father's flock when two boys of the village, on a ramble in the hills, came and sat down on the turf at his side. One of them had a titlark, or meadow pipit, which he had just caught, in his hand, and there was a hot argument as to which of the two was the lawful owner of the poor little captive.

The facts were as follows: One of the boys, having found the nest, became possessed with the desire to get the bird. His companion at once offered to catch it for him, and together they withdrew to a distance and sat down and waited until the bird returned to sit on the eggs. Then the young bird catcher returned to the spot, and creeping quietly up to within five or six feet of the nest threw his hat so that it fell over the sitting titlark, but having thus secured it he refused to give it up.

The dispute waxed hotter as they sat there and at last, when it got to the point of threats or cuffs on the ear and slaps on the face, they agreed to fight it out, the victor to have the titlark. The bird was then put under a hat for safety on the smooth turf a few feet away, and the boys proceeded to take off their jackets and roll up their shirtsleeves, after which they faced one another, and were just about to begin when Caleb, thrusting out his crook, turned the hat over and away flew the titlark.

The boys, deprived of their bird and of an excuse for a fight, would gladly have discharged their fury on Caleb, but they durst not, seeing that his dog was lying at his side; they could only threaten and abuse him, call him bad names and finally put on their coats and walk off.

BENEDICT ARNOLD LETTERS.

One Written by Washington Has Been Presented to a Historical Society.

(New York Sun.)

The president of the New York Historical society has presented to that institution a collection of letters and manuscripts relating to Benedict Arnold. The letters include one from George Washington and another from Lafayette and several bear the signature of Arnold.

In a letter to Benedict Arnold Washington writes under the date of July 6,1778, that it is his belief that Sir Henry Clinton's army has lost by desertion and other causes at least 2,000 men since leaving Philadelphia. This letter was apparently written by a secretary, but it is signed George Washington.

A letter written by Isaac Sears, of Boston, and dated October 25, 1780, to General Greene, handles Arnold without gloves. In it he writes:

"That monster Arnold I hope will meet a just reward. What is to be done with his accomplice, Joshua Smith? The ignominious death of Major Andre in some respects is to be lamented, though he deserved it by the laws of nations. Whenever you have time to give me a particular account of the wicked and villainous plan of Arnold's giving up West Point to the enemy I shall take it as a great favor. My friend, Dr. Gordon, is anxious to have it that he may insert it in his history."

One letter from Arnold in the collection is dated "On Board His Majesty's Ship Hope," January 2, 1781. It is addressed to the officer commanding the party on shore and says that he has sent a lieutenant with a flag of truce from the ship to ascertain the intentions of those on shore.

Now is the time to get rid of your rheumatism. You will find Chamberlin's Liniment wonderfully effective. One application will convince you of its merits. Try it. For sale by all dealers.

THE FELLOW WORKERS.

A young woman who was going from house to house in a street on the upper west side soliciting funds to help support a children's home received the surprise of her life the other day, says the New York Sun. As she went from house to house she noticed that a young man was canvassing the same houses that she had visited, but the butlers were closing the doors rather abruptly in his face. As she came down the steps of one stoop the man was waiting for her at the bottom. "I don't know what line of goods you are selling, madam," the young man said, "but whether you are selling matches or hair curlers, I can't do any business with you around. Now, I tell you what we ought to do. You take one side of the street and I'll take the other, and there'll be no opposition."

The young woman was too shocked to make reply, but it stopped her house canvassing for the day.

For soreness of the muscles whether induced by violent exercise or injury, Chamberlain's Liniment is excellent. This liniment is also highly esteemed for the relief it affords in cases of rheumatism. Sold by all dealers.

OUR MODERN FACTORY SPOON.

For our modern factory made spoon the stock is first rolled and cross rolled to get the graded thickness that is needed. The spoon outline is then obtained by means of cutting out dies. The blanks thus formed are struck up by another set of dies, which ornament the front and back, and even bend the spoon into its proper shape, at the same time stamping the required "sterling" and the maker's mark. If a spoon is made by this latest of processes, the sterling mark can be found raised on the surface instead of incised, as was the case when the marking was done separately.—Handicraft.

HE WAS A DANGEROUS RISK.

Here was a case where it seemed as if everything was settled. The insurance company's doctor had reported that the man seemed to be all right, and the man himself had certified that he was not engaged in any dangerous occupation.

"I lead a sedentary life," he told them. "I work in an office and we have no danger or excitement."

"How about sports?" the examiner asked. "Do you football? Baseball? Do you box? Do you belong to an athletic club?"

"No; none of that stuff. I guess I'm a safe risk."

"Do you scorch?"

"What do you mean?"

"Do you drive your car faster than the speed limit?"

"I have no car."

"What? How do you get about?"

"I walk."

"Risk refused. A scorcher is a dangerous risk, but a pedestrian has no chance at all. Buy a car, old chap. Sorry. Good night!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

U. S. IS PEERLESS IN BEER.

American beer is more popular than German beer in Honduras, and special brands bring higher prices. The same is true of British Honduras. It is also popular in Salvador, but the high import duty and analysis tax is in the way. Panama also favors American beer, but British Guiana buys 98 per cent of its beer from Great Britain. In Ecuador American beer is popular with a certain class of consumers. Chile favors German and English beer. British India, of course, imports British beer—4,286,871 gallons in 1909, besides making 4,823,650 gallons of its own beer. Germany has now lost the first place among beer producing countries to the United States. In 1909 the productions were 1,573,268,245 and 1,814,751,225 gallons, respectively. Great Britain's production was 1,530,130,145 gallons. Both in Belgium and Germany the consumption of beer has fallen off in the last five years. The United States exported $951,183 worth of beer in 1910, two-thirds of which went to Canada and Panama. Cuba was the next best customer.—New York Sun.

EFFICIENCY

THAT'S THE THING

How Many Men Know How to Keep It at Par

Thousands; yes tens of thousands of men, grow old 10 years too soon.

The daily duties of business grow arduous early in the afternoon and evening finds them tired mentally and physically.

The stomach is mostly responsible; the man who keeps his stomach in first-class shape will keep his mental efficiency and his physical efficiency 10 years longer than the man who does not.

Half of His Efficiency Is Gone!

Lack of efficiency means lack of pure blood and lack of pure blood means that the stomach is not supplying the blood with enough nourishment.

And if the stomach does not supply the blood with enough nourishment, something is wrong with the stomach and should be righted.

If you are a man and realize that your efficiency is on the wane and that you are losing money and happiness in consequnece get a 50 cent box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets today and take two after or with each meal for three days; then take one with each meal regularly until you feel well and vigorous.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets disinfect, tone up and restore elasticity to the stomach and intestinal canal. They do more: they increase the nutrition of the body and in case of nerve exhaustion, sleeplessness, night sweats, bad dreams or any condition that requires a restorative they act with astonishing rapidity. They can be found at Meyer Bros. Co. and helpful druggists the world over.

Do these figures mean anything to you?

It seems to us they prove beyond question that the electric sign is an advertising factor of tremendous value.

Some business houses have declared that their trade increased 50 per cent. within one week after hanging out an electric sign.

DOLLY DIMPLES HAS CURIOSITY OF SEX

In crowded street cars, in public places and public gatherings, we daily see evidence of man's incomprehension of man, a state of affairs which should not exist.

If we would all tolerate and respect each other's beliefs and tastes, instead of showing scornful disapproval and trying to set a haughty example of superior knowledge, obviously, with an intent to "reform" everybody of whom we did not approve, how much more felicitous would be our general lot.

If one's neighbor on a crowded car seems boorish and rude, it is doubtless owing to the fact that his environment has made him appear so. In all probability he knows that his manners offend but cannot understand the reason.

We all of us cannot have equal advantages. In the eyes of his cultured neighbor who rides beside him in the car the apparent rudeness of the man is set down as an obnoxious fault in manners; yet his heart may be good and his character quite beautiful.

On the other hand, the refined, polished man of the world may seem arrogant and overbearing to his humble and uncomprehending neighbor, yet he may possess an innate love for all humanity.

So goes the world. Why can't a mutual understanding exist between masses and classes? It is not impossible of attainment.

When one has a peculiar characteristic which one's friends understand and generously condone, it does not influence their regard. Wouldn't it be grand if the whole world would reach this pleasant state of perfect comprehension? That is the goal at which our present evolution is aiming.

I know my own inclinations which have been characterized as faults. I am afraid they are many. For one thing, I am particular to the point of squeamishness about how my gowns are cleaned.

Situated right here in Fort Wayne is a dry-cleaning establishment which has won considerable renown outside of the fertile boundaries of Indiana. Before I ever dreamed of coming to the pretty Summit City I had heard of A. Regis, who does much work for actresses and celebrities. Like me, lots of these travelers prefer to pay express charges on their work than to trust their garments to a dry cleaner of less renown.

Yesterday, Al, my chauffeur, my dear Chalmers and I all started out to pay the progressive establishment a visit, bringing with us a gown of which I am exceedingly particular. We called at the offices at 1205 Calhoun street, a neat, pretty establishment in charge of polite young ladies.

"I'd like to see the manager," I stated. "I have rather an unusual request to make of him."

A man with nice blue eyes and a lot of silvery hair that was rather a becoming frame to his youthful face approached me.

"I am Mr. Regis, the manager," he said, as though puzzled at the message I had sent him.

"Well, I'm particular, in fact, something of a crank on how my gowns are cleaned," I stated. "I've brought a dress with me. May I see it cleaned?"

The request, Mr. Regis admitted, was rather unusual, but he expressed a hearty willingness to grant my odd demand.

"Certainly," he said, "pleased to show you through my entire establishment. I think our methods will meet with your entire approval."

We motored out to the main plant, which is located on Maumee avenue. We found a large, airy, brick structure with many windows and the most wonderful equipment imaginable.

I congratulated myself on being insistent about seeing what treatment my gown would receive as soon as I saw the interesting place. Then, too, my mind is at rest about the gown. They handle them as tenderly at the plant of the French Dry Cleaning and Dyeing Co. as a mother handles her new-born angel of a baby. There were scores of dainty, diaphanous, lacy gowns there, some of costly materials and unmistakable Paris cuts.

All about me was an absolute spotless cleanliness, and machinery and cleaning devices of the most costly and recent invention. There were different departments for different stages of the work each differently equipped.

I witnessed the entire process of French dry cleaning, and it is unquestionably the greatest and only method for cleaning clothes. My gown was first scientifically dusted by a means whereby it is impossible to injure the most delicate fabric. A thorough washing with gasoline follows. This is accomplished in great wonderful washers, which handle the work more skillfully and carefully than human hands could do. There is a careful rinsing by the same methods, which restores the colors in materials to their original freshness.

And thereby lies the secret of the well-dressed man or woman. Show me a particular dresser of either sex, and that person is always a patron of a good dry cleaner. A French dry cleaning renders a garment as good as new, and adds long life to it. People nowadays begin to realize that a garment which our grandfathers would have discarded because it looked "a little shabby" needs only a dry cleaning to make it new.

I peeped into a big dry room where many delicate gowns were hanging. The room represented thousands of dollars, so beautiful and costly were its contents.

Many neat girls were doing handwork on everything in the line of wearing apparel, and some were busy at work on furs, feathers and even lace curtains.

There were automatic pressers which also renovated clothing placed upon them by a steaming process. Gentlemen's suits came from these pressers with that indescribable nifty look we all know.

I was amazed to find 500 shades of colors in the big dyeing plant. This feature of the work is in charge of an expert. It requires great skill.

In describing Mr. Regis' model up-to-date plant I should call it "The home of faultless dry cleaning." My, he is particular.

Joy; Oh joy! Searchers are beginning to go after me in earnest. There were a few workers in the big crowd at Calhoun and Washington streets last night, and at least one searcher kept me busy eluding him. This man who was nearing middle age and wore glasses was possessed of the spirit that wins. He approached a great many women. Once, I drew near enough to him to overhear him accost a lady, and then I kept away, for he had the salutation right.

Ladies, why don't you muster up your courage and win the money? There are many women in every gathering, in fact, they generally outnumber the masculine attendance, but so far they have not been brave. I'd love to see one of my own sex win the $100.

The gentleman with the glasses was not the only searcher. A woman present worked a little bit and I was quite a busy searcher myself. Whenever I approached a lady, I created a small sensation as did the other woman. I was only trying to get the crowd to start in the chase.

I had an amusing little adventure with a notoriety seeker, who probably singled me out of the entire gathering as the most gullible person. I am always friendly and considerate toward strangers. My travels have made me so; but, they have also broadened the range of my experience and taught me to understand human nature. Generally, I can dissect fragments of falsehood from truth at once, but somehow I do not seem to create that impression.

She was a brilliant little thing, and her desire to shine was merely the fault of youth and life. I was standing near the northwest corner when I first noticed her standing beside me. I sort of felt her gaze and looked at her. With a little fluttering movement of the hands which betrayed her nervous temperament, and a peculiar toss of the head she mustered courage to say, "my isn't this a big crowd?"

"Yes indeed," I agreed smiling.

"I feel kind of conspicuous being here alone," she confided as though she wished I would talk to her.

"I am alone," I replied.

"If papa knew that I was here without my chaperon he'd be furious" was her next astonishing statement. I looked my mild astonishment.

"He's so wealthy you know; I have to be careful."

Her large eyes looked straight into my face. I was a bit shocked. Her dress, her manner and her accent did not betoken wealth nor the culture that generally accompanies it.

"Why did you come here, then?" I said gravely.

"Because I know Dolly Dimples," she replied in tones of excited anticipation.

I was too shocked to pretend to believe her.

"You know Dolly Dimples?" was all I could say.

"Yes, we met her in London when we were abroad last year. When I see her I'm to wave my hand."

"Aren't you afraid of betraying her?" I asked icily.

"Oh, we have signs," she stammered.

"Supposing that I watch you?" I asked.

She laughed in clear pretty tones.

"You'd never know that I had made a signal."

She made these statements with such assurance that had I been anyone else but Dolly Dimples I would have probably believed her. I was horrified. She could not have been over 18 and was pretty and dainty.

"At the risk of having my identity suspected I could not refrain from saying, "my dear, with your cleverness you do not need to lie. Don't be silly. Tell the truth. It's smarter than posing."

I walked abruptly away wondering what she would do.

From across the street I could see how red her cheeks were. She remained only about a minute, hurrying away from the scene.

I crossed again to the corner after she was gone, and stood there for some time. I heard many remarks. Once a group of girls stood near me talking. A nice looking young woman wearing white shirt waist, blue skirt and big hat with a green velvet band remarked to the others, "well girls, she'll be in our store tomorrow and you'll all have a chance to get her."

Policeman 46, who was handling the crowd, helped me as I was crossing the street once. I overheard policeman 41 telling a man in a gray suit who I was. Genial 41 was even obliging enough to point me out on the opposite side of the street while I stood back of him and smilingly listened.

I suggest that you watch for the pointers of me that will be published from day to day and try saluting those whom you think might be Dolly in disguise. The pointers will describe my natural appearance and you will have to try deduction. Do as the man with the glasses did last night. Try to salute all the ladies.

Watch for me today at Wolf & Dessauer's and remember the salutation.

If I am successful in eluding you today, I will despair of being captured.

In the event that I can weather my appointment today, after the test to which my powers will be put, I will try to arrange for a public appearance somewhere so as to give participants an opportunity to study my features.

Of course, you have all noticed Reds, for that young man is leather lunged and quite manifest, and not at all retiring in disposition; Then he is always at the scene of my appointment places in conspicuous livery. Sometimes he wears a bright red uniform and sometimes one of St. Patrick's green. Both suits were made after his own instructions from material selected by himself. In New York, Reds is called the world's greatest "newsie," but he likes to travel and has decided to follow the fortunes of Dolly Dimples. His nickname of "Reds" was bestowed upon him by fellow "newsies" who were quick to notice his crowning glory of crimson locks. His real name is Thomas Bird, but he is seldom addressed as Thomas or Mr. Bird.

If you want to see how quick he is with a reply, ask him how old he is or where Dolly Dimples lives.

Tax Valuation Nearly Doubles Within Year's Time.

Gary, Ind., May 19.—Figures given out by Township Assessor John MacFadden today shows that during a year's time Gary's assessed valuations have leaped from $13,000,000 to $20,359,200. The raise is attributed to the development of the city's heaviest taxpayer, the United States Steel corporation's big projects. There has also been a phenomenal raise in Gary real estate values within the last year. Last year Gary paid twice as much taxes as Hammond, an older and larger city. When the state board completes its assessment of railways, telephones and telegraph lines, it is expected that another $2,000,000 will be added to Gary's total valuation for 1911.

S.S.S. KILLS THE GERMS OF SCROFULA

Scrofula belongs to the type of diseases known as blood poison, and is a trouble usually manifested in childhood. The ordinary symptoms of Scrofula are swollen glands about the neck, sores and ulcers on the body, scalp diseases, skin affections, weak eyes, poor physical development, etc. The trouble being deeply rooted in the blood, often attacks the bones if the poison is not removed from the circulation, and this should be seriously considered in the case of any child who shows symptoms of having scrofulous blood. Some persons who inherit Scrofula reach maturity before the trouble develops, but being bred in the circulation, the disease is bound to show itself in some form. Frequently a debilitating spell of sickness offers a favorable opportunity for the disease to manifest itself. S. S. S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and by going down into the circulation, and ridding it of the scrofulous germs, and enriching the blood with healthful corpuscles, S. S. S. cures Scrofula permanently. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable remedy, and is perfectly safe for children. If you or your child have any symptoms of Scrofula, begin the use of S. S. S. at once, and get the disease forever removed from the system. Book on the blood, and any medical advice free. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores.

PEANUTS ARE NOT "NUTS."

It Belongs to the Pea Family, But Gets the Name From Its Taste.

(Boston Herald.)

The peanut might seem a small matter, but the value of the peanut crop of the United States for the year 1908 was valued at $12,000,000, and the area of cultivation and the value of the product are steadily increasing.

The common peanut originally came from tropical America. Properly speaking, it is a pea rather than a nut, the term not having been added on account of its flavor, which is similar to that of many of the true nuts.

The cultivation of the peanut for commercial purposes has until comparatively recently been confined chiefly to areas in Virginia, Tennessee, the Carolinas and Georgia, but in recent years the industry has become established throughout the South Atlantic states and westward to and including California. The climatic requirements of the peanut are a long season without frost, a comparatively light rainfall during the growing period, abundant sunshine and a high temperature.

HIGH PRAISE FOR WOODROW WILSON

Rev. Dr. Little Lauds Jersey Governor in Sermon as Moderator.

PLEA FOR DOCTRINE

Atlantic City, May 19.—Rev. Charles Little, of Wabash, Ind., the retiring moderator, in the annual sermon of the presiding officer at the opening of the Presbyterian general assembly here yesterday took for his subject, "The Ministry of Elijah and Elisha—Then and Now," with the text from II Kings 2:12 and II Kings 13:14. After contrasting the characters of the ancient prophets—Elijah as destructive, a separatist and a reformer, and Elisha as constructive, harmonizing and a peacemaker—he asked whether there were not today ministers who differed as widely in gifts, knowledge and wisdom and yet were equally honored of God.

"The contrast may not be so wide, and the dividing line so sharply defined," said Dr. Little, "but in modified sense, are there not Elijahs and Elishas in the pulpit of today? May not the glory of kingdom and its ultimate victory be hastened thereby? In the prophecy of Isaiah, the Almighty declares that spiritual architecture of the church is made complete by the different parts which unite in its construction: 'The glory of Lebanon shall come unto thee, the fir tree, the pine tree and the box together, to beautify the place of my sanctuary; and I will make the place of my feet glorious.' The fir treet, the pine tree and the box together! May not the ministers of today by their diversified gifts and method bring greater honor to his name and church? May they not be the chariots of Israel and the horsemen? Such an inquiry is pertinent for any age, especially so for the church of today.

From a Trio of Standpoints.

"Let us consider the inquiry from these three standpoints:

"1. The mission of the pulpit.

"2. The breadth of Christian doctrine.

"3. Christian unity."

Basing the fundamental work of the church on the facts that sin is in the world, that his kingdom has not yet come, that wickedness prevails in high places and that "vice, intemperance and unbelief lift up their heads loftily and the ark of God trembles," Dr. Little asked, "What is the mission of the pulpit under such conditions? Is it surprising its occupants do not always possess the same ideals? Assuming, if you please, an equal consecration, is it surprising to find they differ in standpoint, in outlook, in temperament and in method?

Spirit of the Prophet Holds Them.

"In many pulpits the spirit of the older prophet of our text reappears. The minister is burdened with economic questions, and social reforms. Children are oppressed; sweatshops are numerous; tenement houses need ventilation; injustice in wages must be rebuked; disease must be arrested; sanitary laws enacted, and the world reclaimed. Such men only should be elected to office who will be fair-minded, true, with a passion for righteousness. These are the conditions which constitute the vision of many a preacher. As the soul of Paul was stirred within him at Athens, so is his soul stirred, and he summons the church to its duty to mankind. From the pulpit he goes down into the week with the mantle of Elijah and with his spirit pleading for civic righteousness and national reforms. He is not unmindful of the work of the individual for the individual, yet his greatest longing is to see the church as a church going forth like an army putting the prophets of Baal to death, and giving the throne to him whose right it is to reign.

Tribute to Governor Wilson.

"The present governor of this state of New Jersey is not a minister, but he occupied the chair at the head of a great university, a position usually occupied by ministers, and his church life and duties brought his mission into close affiliation with that of ministers. He heard (if we may interpret him by his acts) a voice bidding him, as he understood it, take the larger vision and lead the commonwealth to a nobler citizenship, so that there might be presented to the individual fewer temptations and a better idea of life. It is not amiss for this assembly, with this example in mind, devoutly to hope that the number of Christian statesmen may increase, even though at times, even not too often, they are recruited from the ranks of college presidents and the clergy."

Adherence to the Creed.

Dr. Little urged close adherence to the creed in his discussion of "The Breadth of Christian Doctrine." "All churches have creeds, written or unwritten," he said. "The church which has a mission has it because of its own interpretation of the word of God. That interpretation should be clear and decided. When it ceases to possess and preserve a doctrinal identity, it will lose its place among the active working forces of the kingdom. The Presbyterian church has its creed—the confession of faith—which sets forth in an orderly way the doctrines taught in the Bible as understood by us. We ask our ministers in their ordination vows to pledge their fidelity thereto, and while they may be permitted some elasticity in the interpretation of the phrase 'containing the system of doctrine taught in the Holy Scriptures,' there should be no juggling with the phraseology and the acceptance should be sincere. And further, the highest judicatory of the church must be the final court for the declaration of the necessary and essential articles of faith. Such a declaration was made by the general assembly one year ago.

What the Church Has Taught.

"The Presbyterian church has always stood for the sovereignty of God, for the Bible as the only infallible rule of faith and practice, and for the salvation through Jesus Christ who died for our sins and rose again. These truths, and others in harmony therewith, have been the teaching of the church from the days of the apostle down to the present hour. Opposition has arrayed itself, unbelief has sent forth its challenge, doubt has been alert, and unfriendly criticism has ridiculed. Through it all, the church has continued loyal to its commission and to its Divine Leader, and today, in the face of agitation, it can possess the assurance of the Apostle Paul, 'Nevertheless, the foundation of God standeth sure.'"

Church unity of the present day was emphasized, according to Dr. Little, by the numerous interdenominational associations, conventions, councils, brotherhoods, the laymen's missionary movement and the inter-church federation with its thirty-two Christian denominations.

Christian Unity.

"The spirit of Christian unity," he continued, "is still further revealed in the loving approach toward church union by churches holding to the same doctrine and policy. This is clearly manifest among the different branches in sister denominations. As for ourselves, who can doubt God will make the place of his feet in our land more glorious by bringing together in name and in heart as one the different reformed churches holding the Presbyterian system? Are any praying for this?

"Do we differ in the non-essentials of our Christian journey? Is it true the sky and the passing clouds and the setting sun do not always speak the same language to us? If so, let it be so, but in this we must agree, then we are sons of one Father whom we obey, that he has revealed himself to us through his Divine Son, our elder brother, who loved us and gave himself for us by his death, who rose again and is our King. Let us proclaim his kingship to the world, and salvation to his name alone! Let us live and so proclaim that all may know that 'God also hath highly exalted him and given him a name which is above every name; that at the name of Jesus, every knee should bow, of things in heaven and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.'"

Saves Health of Old People—Trial Free

A healthy old couple who have lived a long life together make an ideal picture. But unfortunately so many old people have a dismal life. Even if they are otherwise in good health they seem to suffer from constipation and indigestion. It is the penalty of old age. To old people, the best advice is—Be careful of your food. But even that is not all. The stomach and bowel muscles are no longer as active as they used to be and on that account movement of the bowels is more difficult. To aid nature take a mild laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin whenever you find yourself becoming constipated or when you have any difficulty digesting your food. It is not strong like salts or purgatives, but is mild, gentle and non-griping—just what elderly people need. It is the best laxative for old people, as it is for women and children. Many men and women far beyond seventy have been able to discard all medicines after a brief use of Syrup Pepsin. The regular bottles can be obtained of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar, but we suggest that you make a free trial of it first, as so many others have done. Send your address to Dr. Caldwell and he will send you a free sample bottle.

Look for This Picture on Pkg.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell Building, Monticello, Ill.

The following are some extracts from letters Dr. Caldwell has received:

"Your free sample bottle came in due time and I was so gratified with results that I bought a larger bottle and am so in favor of its effects that I am putting others on the track to get relief. I am 79 years old and have been troubled with a torpid liver, but feel that I now have the right remedy and will no longer have the trouble. Also it acts without inconvenience."—Mrs. W. H. Carter, Maywood, Ill.

"I am 73 years old; have been seriously afflicted with heart trouble for over 15 years, unable to do anything during that time; have spent all I had doctoring with several local doctors and many specialists, all to no purpose. My case is a very hard one and incurable; constipation of a very serious nature. I would, for years, go from three to five days without a movement; would take pills, salts, etc., until I was entirely tired of life. Have tried everything. I saw your ad; sent for free sample of Syrup Pepsin, received it and it did me so much good that I got a 50c bottle and have taken it as per directions regularly; shall get another bottle today. It has done me a world of good. It is the nicest to take and the most effective of any remedy I have ever used. It is simply a god-send to me."—A. A. Lewis, R. 2, Box 51, Bentonville, Ark.

"I received your free sample of Syrup Pepsin and have taken it and am now taking a $1.00 bottle. It is doing me a great deal of good. I have had trouble more or less with my stomach ever since I left the army, but have never taken very much medicine for it, but the sample you sent me did me so much good I thought I would give it a trial. It is helping me and I shall continue to take it. I can recommend it to any one having stomach trouble and heart trouble."—Geo. S. Spaulding, Nat. Soldiers' Home, Kansas.

"I have tried your Syrup Pepsin and found it all that you claim. I am recommending it to the old veterans and they are buying it on my word. I shall use it as long as I live. I cannot praise it enough."—Enos Gilpin, National Soldiers' Home, Danville, Ill.

THIS IS DOLLY—WOULD YOU KNOW HER IF YOU MET HER?

$100.00 REWARD

For the Capture of The Mysterious

"DOLLY DIMPLES"

Rules and Conditions

The Fort Wayne Sentinel will pay $100.00 in GOLD to any person apprehending the Mysterious Dolly Dimples who complies with the rules and conditions governing this unique novelty and who repeats the following salutation to the mysterious Dolly Dimples: "PARDON ME, YOU ARE THE MYSTERIOUS MISS DOLLY DIMPLES OF THE SENTINEL, THE PAPER THAT GOES INTO THE HOMES."

If the above salutation is repeated word for word to the mysterious young lady she will at once admit her identity, take you to the office of The Sentinel where the above reward will be paid. When you arrive at The Sentinel office you will be required to make an affidavit that you are now and have been a resident in the state of Indiana within a radius of twenty-five miles of Fort Wayne for the past six months. The reward will not be paid to any outsider, but only to a bona-fide resident of the state of Indiana. This rule effectually prohibits any collusion and makes this merry chase fair and above board.

Boys under eighteen years of age are also prohibited from securing the reward and will not be recognized by Dolly Dimples.

This same rule applies to any person directly or indirectly connected with The Fort Wayne Sentinel or any member of his or her family.

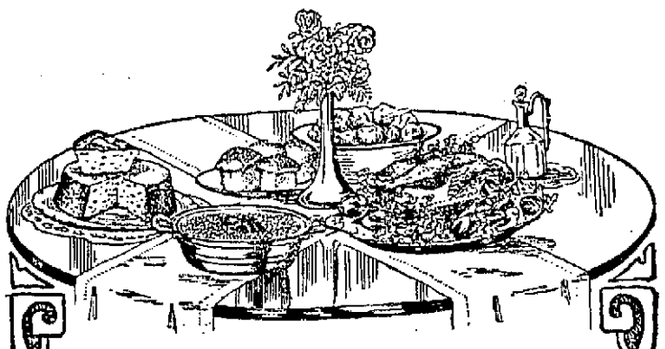
The salutation which must be repeated to the young lady will be changed from day to day until she is finally captured. Therefore our advice to all persons interested in trying to win the $100.00 in Gold is to watch the columns of The Sentinel every day and memorize the magic words until you are perfect.

Dolly Dimples is subject to capture from 12 o'clock noon to 12 o'clock midnight each day. The salutation published in the current day's issue of The Sentinel is good up to midnight, and from 12 o'clock noon next day until the first issue of the paper of that day.

Here is a chance for some person to display cleverness and at the same time secure a real nice nest egg.

Miss Dolly Dimples will not recognize anyone who in any way whatever stops her longer than a reasonable length of time in order to repeat the salutation correctly. It must be distinctly understood that Miss Dolly Dimples will immediately admit her identity if correctly saluted. There will be no need of holding her at any time. Only one reward will be paid, and in case more than one person claims priority of capture, the decision of Miss Dolly Dimples shall be final as to which one of the claimants first properly addressed her and complied with the rules and conditions.

Read the Above Conditions Carefully



With the Caloric

COME TO THE DEMONSTRATION.

THE "Caloric" does better cooking and baking than is possible by any other method. That may sound like a strong statement to you who do not know the possibilities of this wonderful time and labor saving stove, but it is founded upon absolute results. Foods cooked in the "Caloric" are far more nutritious and palatable. The delicate, delicious flavor of meats are far more savory when cooked the "Caloric" way, because none of the wholesomeness is lost by evaporation.

The "Caloric" roasts and bakes food in its raw state without first partially cooking it in an ordinary stove or reheating it before serving.

If you have never tasted food cooked in the "Caloric" Cook Stove you cannot realize the vast difference in flavor.

Come to our store and let us demonstrate to you how you can reduce your meat and grocery bills with a "Caloric" Fireless Cook Stove. Come and bring your friends.

A Quartet of Boys Was Arrested for Stealing Pencils for a Girl.

Just as there was trouble for Troy after Paris had made his gift of a golden apple "to the fairest," so there is trouble in public school No. 168, in 120th street, near Pleasant avenue, says the New York Herald. Four boys and a girl were arrested there the other day. The boys were charged with stealing pencils to give to the girl, and she was accused of receiving the stolen articles.

Policemen had been sent to investigate a complaint made by the principal of public school No. 78. They were told that burglars had forced open a rear window on Sunday night last and had ransacked the supply room, taking away pencils and writing pads.

Chance helped the police. They saw James Abbey and Salvator Fiscella playing in the street, when they ought to be reading and writing and giving answers to mathematical problems. The men caught both boys and asked them questions. Their arrests and that of two playmates they named followed. The detectives could not learn, however, what had become of the missing pencils. They went for help to Miss Louise E. Tucker, principal of No. 168. Miss Tucker had noticed an abnormal supply of stationery in the desk of little Miss Sakos and asked her about it.

The child said giggingly the supply had been a gift to her by James and John and Salvator and Harry. Her pencils were taken away as evidence.

ONE THOUSAND SUCCESSFUL MEN

I have on my desk a list of 1,000 successful men of this nation. By "successful" I do not mean mere money-makers, but men who have given us new conceptions of steam, electricity, construction work, education, art, etc. These are the men who influence our moral as well as physical lives. They construct for better things.

How these men started in work is interesting. Their first foothold in work is a fine study.

Two hundred started as farmers' sons.

Two hundred started as messenger boys.

Two hundred were newsboys.

One hundred were printers' apprentices.

One hundred were apprenticed in manufactories.

Fifty began at the bottom of railway work.

Fifty—only fifty—had wealthy parents to give them a start.—Juvenile Court Record.

WILL LIVE ON A BOAT.

Tubercular Children Will Spend Their Time Caring for Flowers.

A double-decked flower garden will occupy all the sunny portions of the municipal ferryboat Middletown as it plies the East river here this summer, the Detroit Free Press says. The boat was recently turned over to the tuberculosis prevention committee as a summer hospital for child tubercular patients, and the little boys and girls, who have permanent homes on board, will have entire charge of caring for their unique garden.

A CLOSE CORPORATION.

A woman at the St. Regis who wished to hire a chauffeur got from an applicant the name of Mrs. So-and-So, who he said resided at another well known hotel, narrates the New York Sun. The man said he had been in this woman's employ for a long time and she was willing to answer any questions about him.

The woman with the motor car straightway called up the hotel that was mentioned and asked for the woman to whom she had been referred. Finally a woman aswered. Yes, she knew the driver whose name was mentioned; he had been in her employ for two years, and had driven her during that time; he was faithful, careful and sober, and her only reason for letting him go was that she was going to Europe.

It sounded well, but when in various social registers she tried to find out just who Mrs. So-and-So was she could learn nothing, so she decided to call upon the owner of the name. She was informed at the hotel that there was no person of that name stopping there, but they did have a telephone operator by that name. She turned out to be the woman who had been the "employer" of the chauffeur.

THE LOCAL MARKETS.

Hay and Wool Is Pretty Active—Prices Remain Firm.

There is little activity in the local markets. Farmers are busy with their work, and but few of them are coming to the city. Prices are holding steady. There has been no material change on any product this week. Hay has come in in unusually large quantities to the city and it finds buyers. Thursday twenty loads were registered at the city scales. It brings all sorts of prices, ranging from $15.00 to $21.00.

Corn and oats are scarce, and yet during the last few days there has been considerable on the market. Loads of corn on the Barr street market today were held at 54c to 57c a bushel, and oats at 32c and 35c. Eggs bring 16c to 18c, and butter 19c to 24c. A considerable amount of wool is coming into the markets. It is quoted at 17c and 18c.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., May 19.—Forecast of somewhat cooler weather, with scattered showers, tended to make wheat easy today. General rains in Russia and prediction of large world shipments had a discouraging effect on the bulls. So likewise did the fact that demand in the pit was unusually slow. Opening figures were a shade to ⅜c down. July started at 88⅝c to 88⅜@88⅞c, a loss of a sixteenth to ¼c, touched 88⅜c and fell back to 88⅝c.

Corn showed a little firmness at the outset, as there was some buying on the part of scalpers, but the market soon began to sag with wheat. July opened a shade lower to ⅛c up, at 52⅜c to 52½@52⅝c, and later hung a round the under level.

Rather plentiful offerings checked the talk of drought from having much bullish influence on oats. July started the same as last night to ⅛c up, at 34⅛c to 34⅛c, and steadied at the first named price.

Provisions displayed more power of absorption than expected. First sales were 2½c higher to 2½c off, with July delivery $14.75 for pork, $8.07½ for lard and $7.77½ to $7.80 for ribs.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, May 19.—An irregular tone characterized the opening of the stock market today. Trading was active and the tendency of most of the market leaders was toward lower prices. The first transaction in United States Steel was the sale of 2,200 shares at a decline of ¾. Union Pacific fell back the same amount. Atchison and American Smelting ½, and Southern Pacific and General Electric a point. There were a few advances, among them being a gain of 1¾ by Canadian Pacific and a point by Rock Island.

Amalgamated Copper was marked up rapidly to 67¾, and the general market also stiffened slightly, but when the buying of Amalgamated Copper ceased temporarily the rest of the list fell back sharply. The upward movement was resumed later by Reading, which crossed 160 for the first time in many weeks, and there was an immediate response by other leaders. Union Pacific, United States Steel, St. Paul and the copper stocks were bought heavily at advancing prices. Western Union was unusually active and strong, rising 1⅝. Virginia-Carolina Chemical lost a point.

Trading in stocks was on a smaller scale this morning and the buoyant tone of the previous three days was missing. The market showed the effect of a lessened demand, particularly from the outside and prices wavered. The higher quotations established by the previous advance decreased the demand and there was also a falling off in the bidding from the short interest which has covered large lines. Following the demonstration against the short interest in Reading, the market again began to feel the volapparent on advances, and those offerings forced back some of the important stocks to below yesterday's closing. Among these were Union Pacific, United States Steel, St. Paul, Missouri Pacific, American Smelting and Pennsylvania. Some minor specialties, including Iowa Central were brought forward and scored handsome gains. Bonds were firm.

The series of up and down movements rather puzzled the professionals, the market holding hardly long enough in one direction to assure profitable trading. Close observers maintained that considerable stock had been distributed during the enthupsiastic buying of the last few days, and that the market was showing evidence of the lack of the sustaining force of the short interest which had been driven in. During the latter half of the day the speculation was dull, narrow and at times hesitating.

George Collins, a farmer, received severe injuries Thursday morning, by an automobile striking his rig and throwing it into a ditch as he was driving on the Huntington road, five miles west of the city. The driver of the automobile did not stop when the accident occurred, but speeded up the machine and Mr. Collins was unable to see the number. He stated that he thought the driver of the car was a woman.

Patrolman George Strodel, who has been confined to his home with an attack of rheumatism, is recovering and will be able to return to work within a short time.

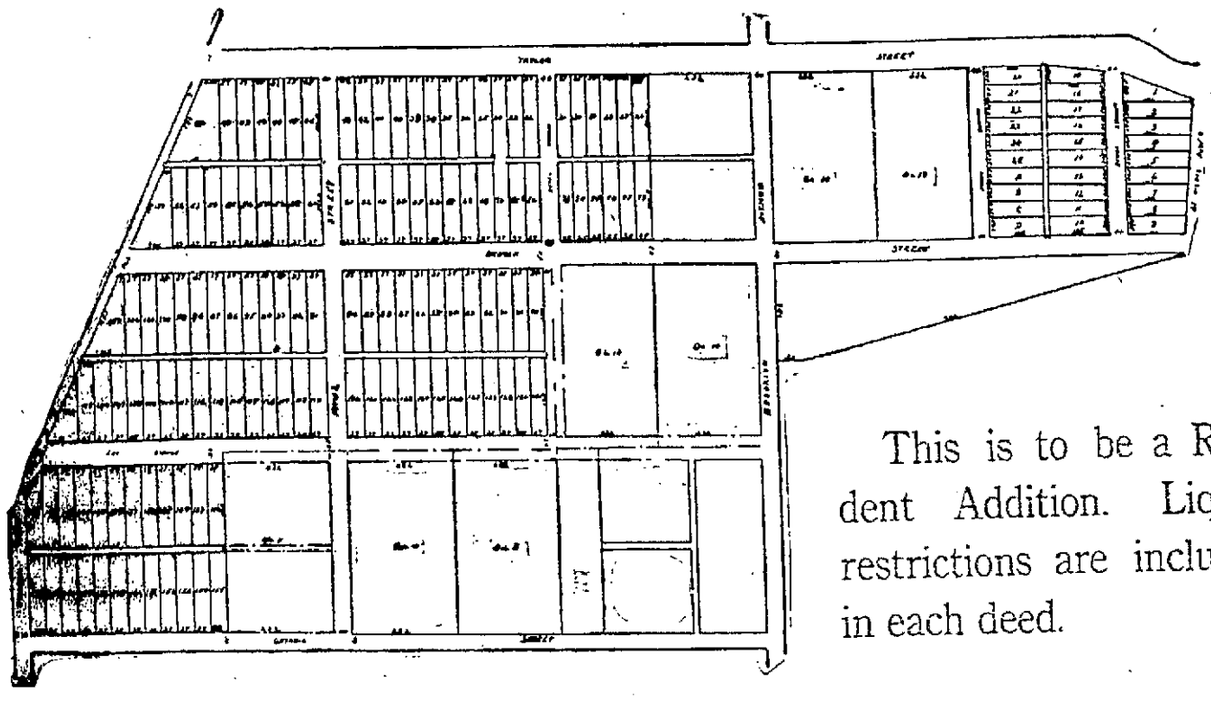
Electric Addition

$40,000 Already Sold. Best selling lots yet offered by W. E Doud.



This is to be a Resident Addition. Liquor restrictions are included in each deed.

W. E. DOUD

The reason for placing this plat on the market at the present time is apparent when you take into consideration the fact that the Fort Wayne Electric Corporation has recently purchased all the ground on the east side of Broadway between the railroad and the park. They have erected new massive office and store buildings. They have purchased three blocks of lots on Wall street where they have already erected a large factory, and will expend a very large sum in building additional shops. These when completed, will add practically 1,000 families to that part of the city.

The above plat is the only vacant ground within reach of the great Electric Works. Every lot in this addition should be built upon at once to accommodate the people who must of necessity find homes. The owners of this addition would prefer to sell to people only who desire to build. The fact is, however, that the man who has $5.00 to pay down on a lot and who will pay $5.00 or more per month will have the benefit of seeing his lot increase in value every time a new house is built near him, and is not prohibited from selling at any time the price suits.

The man who buys in this addition has the advantage of knowing that still farther out are located the VanArnam Mfg. Co., The Steel Mills, The Hanna-Brackenridge Co. and the greatest Dredge Machine Mfg. Co. in this part of the country, all employing a vast number of men.

The General Building and Investment Co., composed largely of the office employes of the Electric Works, has not been slow to realize the advantage of being the first in the field. They have purchased a number of lots in this addition and already several houses are under way, the owners realizing that it would pay to sell a few lots in advance to them with an agreement to build.

Adjoining city limits. Paved streets to the addition. Cement walks and graded streets throughout the addition. Money loaned you to build at any time.

Prices of Lots Yet to Be Sold:

3 lots at $200; 7 lots at $250; 10 lots at $300;
22 lots at $350; 5 lots at $375; 7 lots at $400;
2 lots at $425; 1 lot at $450.

You will find men on the addition until these lots are sold. Take Taylor Street car to addition office, or phone 253 and we will take you out in one of the automobiles.

TERMS OF SALE—Five dollars cash per lot; balance $5.00 per month with interest at 6 per cent. on deferred payments. A discount of 5 per cent. will be allowed for all sums of $50 or more paid within 30 days. Buyer may pay as much as he pleases at any time. No taxes until 1912. More new homes have been started within the last few days in this addition than in any other part of the city.
